TWO-TRAIN CRASH KILLS 20 RAILMEN

SPRINGER, N.M. (AP)—Twenty railway workers perished early today when the speeding Santa Fe Chief passenger train smashed head-on into a side-tracked mail train in northern New Mexico.

Railway officials said the death toll may be higher when wrecking crews pry into the twisted and torn cars of the Chief.

At least seven persons were injured.

Santa Fe spokesmen said as far as can be determined no passengers were killed in the early-morning tragedy.

December Vote On Schools

A $3,000,000 school building program will be presented to Greater Victoria electors in a referendum this December.

Mechanics Strike 4 Garages

Mechanics and other shop employees in four out of nine Victoria auto dealers walked off their jobs at 11 this morning, leaving four others still operating and the ninth undecided by noon hour.

Shops that walked out were apparently violating an agreement reached Tuesday night with management, in which it was agreed strike action, set for 11 a.m. today, would be held off until a new wage contract offer from employers could be taken.

The nine shops out of a total 10 major dealers in the city voted more than a week ago to take strike action in their dispute over management to try for peaceful settlement, but instead set a strike deadline.

The first deadline, set for Tuesday at 11 a.m., was postponed again, to Thursday, when management came up with its new offer.

Management applied for government conciliation assistance when the union made no move to meet again with employer representatives.

RAISE OFFERED

Conciliation officer W. T. McLaughlin informed the union management was willing to increase its offer above terms of a conciliation report rejected last month by the union.

A union spokesman indicated the membership would likely reject the new offer.

Union requests include a journeyman mechanic rate of $2.10 an hour, 10-per-cent increase for other classifications, 40-hour, five-day week with 40-hour guarantee, nine statutory holidays, two weeks' holiday with pay after one year, full union shop and one-year contract.

Present rate for mechanics is $1.78, there are no statutory holidays and the work week is 44 hours.

New company offer would give $2 an hour, "proportionate" increases for other classifications, existing maintenance of union membership, two-year agreement, 40-hour five-day week worked Monday-Saturday between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m., two statutory holidays this year and three more next year, and 40-hour work guarantee.

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—Angelo Lamacara, 31, today pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity in the fatal kidnapping of Peter Weinberger, 33 days old. Trial was set for Oct. 1.

The program includes construction of one new high school, one new junior high school, five new elementary schools, major additions to four existing junior and senior high schools and additions to six existing elementary schools.

The referendum will require a three-fifths, or 60 per cent, yes vote to pass.

District architects have been asked to complete preliminary plans to assist board officials in estimates.

Here is the list of proposed projects:

SERVE ESQUIMALT

A new high school to serve Esquimalt, View Royal and Colquitz areas.

A new junior high school for Gordon Head area.

A new Uplands elementary school.

A new elementary unit in the R. J. Road area.

A new elementary unit at Hampton Road.

A new eight-room Marigold school.

A new elementary unit to be known as Norlake School, on Milner Avenue near Quadra Street.

Additions to Oak Bay Senior High School, including eight classrooms, a band room, industrial arts and home economics teaching spaces, enlargement of the present auditorium, gymnasium, installation of a new heating plant and improvement to administrative offices.

Additions to Mount Douglas High School involving construction of four to six classrooms, two industrial arts and two home economics rooms.

Additions to Oak Bay Junior High of four classrooms and a band room.

Additions to Lansdowne Junior High School in form of a two-story wing including 10 classrooms and additional washrooms.

Unspecified additions to: Frank Hobbs elementary, Monterey elementary, Sir James Douglas, Gordon Head elementary.

TENTATIVE PROGRAM

School board chairman W. H. Goiby, in announcing the program, pointed out that the new program is still tentative and must be approved by the provincial department of education.

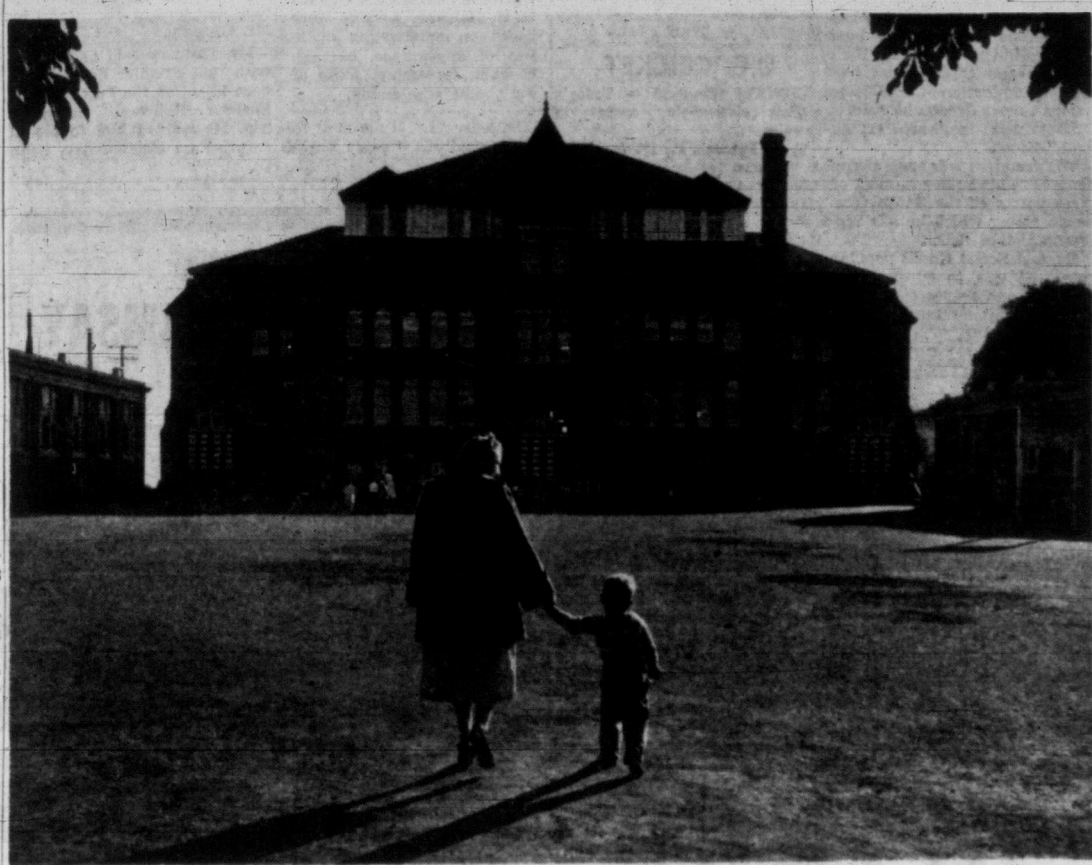

He said that sites for new schools have been chosen, but are subject to change depending upon negotiations to gain ownership.

The new high school serving the Esquimalt, View Royal, Colquitz area likely will be built in the northern section of Esquimalt and may mean the present Esquimalt high school will in time be relegated as a junior high.

The junior high school slated for Gordon Head will be similar in size and design to the Lansdowne and Colquitz junior highs. It will serve the Gordon Head, Mount Douglas, Mount Tolmie and Cadboro Bay areas.

The estimated total building cost of $3,000,000 was arrived at.

BRITONS PUT COLOR ON ANY TV SCREEN

BIRMINGHAM, Eng. (UP)—British researchers were reported tonight to have developed a method of television broadcasting which produces an illusion of color on ordinary black and white screens.

The process is called "subjective color," and an experimental commercial will be broadcast to the public Saturday.

Asked to comment on the reports, Philip Dorte, Midlands controller of the Associated Television Co., one of the commercial stations, said:

"We expect to make in the next few hours a statement which may be the most important ever made in television since it was first broadcast from Alexandra Palace in London on November 6, 1936."

U.S. RIOTING SUBSIDES

Negro Students Run Gauntlet of Silence

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP)—All 12 enrolled Negroes entered class at Clinton High School today amid dead silence from white pupils clustered around.

There still were fewer white pupils than usual, but more than Tuesday, when only 257 white boys and girls showed up at the start of the school's second week of integration following a riotous week of anti-integration activity.

Ten of the Negro students, five boys and five girls, formed a single file to pass through the white students outside the building.

Aside from a muted "Here they come," there was silence from the crowd for the first time since the Negroes enrolled last week.

After classes started a room check showed 312 white pupils present for a total of 324.

The Clinton and other racial disturbances flared across the southern states as millions of children began the third school year since the United States Supreme Court ruled segregation unconstitutional. But the outbreaks were sporadic and confined to small communities for the most part.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the federal government should not intervene in racial disturbances arising from school integration unless the states are unable to maintain order.

Questioned on disorders in Texas and elsewhere at the opening of integrated schools, Eisenhower told a press conference he believes the states thus far have handled their problems adequately.

Eisenhower said the United States would be in a bad way if the federal government fell into the practice of using its police power habitually and continually.

ST. HUBERT, Que. (CP)—Twenty-four Sabre jets left here today for RCAF bases in Europe. The mass flight is the latest in Operation Random, which has ferried some 600 jets—Sabres and T-33 trainers—to Europe without a casualty.

CCF PREMIER HERE

Public Ownership B.C. Need—Douglas

Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan called on the people of British Columbia Tuesday night to support public ownership of its natural power and resources.

"In Saskatchewan we believe those who pay the piper should call the tune," the diminutive CCF premier told a crowded CCF meeting at Central Junior High School.

On a five-day speaking tour of B.C. he declared:

"Under public ownership we have been able to give service at cost. Every year a surplus goes back to the people—not to shareholders in London or New York or Montreal."

"We have had five reductions in power rates in the last 10 years and another is coming up very soon. Every dollar we make goes back to the people in reduced rates and improved services."

Mr. Douglas tackled the election issues in light-hearted vein and made no direct attack on the Social Credit government.

But he twitted Premier Bennett for referring to Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi as "an outstanding man of God."

"Did he mean that Mr. Gagliardi was next to God or next to the premier—or both?" Mr. Douglas asked.

COULD BENEFIT B.C.

He said Socialist policies which have benefited people of the wheat province could benefit the people of British Columbia.

He said the Saskatchewan government paid as much attention to people living in isolated communities as to those in big cities.

"We know that if we didn't have people cutting down trees and trapping animals, there wouldn't be any cities. By the end of the year 40,000 farms in Saskatchewan will have electric power and by 1960 there will be power for 65,000 farms."

"In B.C. only 19,500 farms have electric power."

"The man who lives in a town of 200 has as much right to service as a man who lives in a city of 2,000."

Mr. Douglas said B.C. Telephone Company had a net profit of $2,708,000 last year which went in dividends to shareholders. Saskatchewan's public telephone service showed a profit of $2,750,000 which went back to the people in lower rates and improved service.

PREMIER DOUGLAS
... twits B.C.'s Bennett

"That is why you can still make nickel phone calls in Saskatchewan," he said.

He said if B.C. had charged

Over 200 Seeking 52 Seats in House

Battle for the 52 seats in the next B.C. legislature boiled down to a three-way tussle when nominations for the Sept. 19 election closed at 1 p.m. today.

More than 200 candidates are standing, and with the close of nominations it became clear that the fight for control of the new House will be between the present Social Credit government, the CCF Official Opposition and the Liberal party.

Each of these groups had almost full slates nominated in the ridings, but the Progressive Conservatives, attempting to stage a comeback after their debacle of 1952-53, had fielded only two dozen candidates and could not elect enough to get control of the Legislature even if all were successful.

Unofficial summaries as closing time arrived gave the Social Credit and Liberal parties 32 candidates each and the CCF 47, but there were a few ridings to be heard from at the last minute and these were expected to boost the CCF total to 51.

Thirteen Labor Progressive (Communist) candidates were in the running and there were seven Independents.

In the last election, Jan. 8, 1953, there were 229 candidates fighting for 48 seats. The Legislature was enlarged by four members at the last sitting, including a member for the new Peace River North constituency.

Standing of the House at dissolution was Social Credit 28, CCF 14, Liberals 4, Independent Labor 1, Independent 1.

Premier Bennett and all members of his cabinet are standing for re-election.

The Premier himself is in a four-way fight in South Okanagan, with Capt. C. R. Bull, a former Liberal MLA, Walter Ratzlaff of the CCF and Brayne Weddell, PC, opposing him.

Bonner Tangles With Liberal Chief

Attorney-General Robert Bonner is seeking return in his Vancouver Point Grey riding.

On the same ballot, in a field of 13 candidates, will be Arthur Laing, Liberal party leader.

In Kamloops riding Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi is opposed only by T. P. Wilson, Liberal and Victor Mauro, CCF.

Education Minister Ray Williston has opponents of the three opposition parties, including Frank L. Perry, Liberal, who is the son of former education minister Harry Perry.

Robert Sommers, the former lands and forests minister and a controversial figure in the campaign, is opposed also by representatives of the three opposition parties in Rossland-Trail.

Robert Strachan, CCF leader of the Opposition, is in a three-way fight in Cowichan-Newcastle with Rev. Charles W. Parker, former SC member for Peace River and Robert Harvey, B.C. Liberal, opposing him.

Deane Finlayson, the Progressive Conservative leader, is contesting North Vancouver against ten others for the two seats. The Labor Progressive party leader, Nigel Morison, is a candidate in Vancouver Centre.

Twenty-five representatives of five political parties are contesting the six Greater Victoria seats.

Mrs. Lydia Arsens, 56, only woman member of the last legislature, is seeking re-election as a Social Credit member for Victoria and is one of 13 women nominated.

Three were chosen by the CCF party, three by the Liberals and three by Labor-Progressive. Social Credit named two and the Conservatives one.

Remaining lady aspirant is Mrs. Margaret Murray, editor of the Alaska Highway News, who has chosen to run as an

Nasser Keeps Door Open

CAIRO (UP)—The five-nation Suez committee discussed in secret today Egyptian president Gamal Abdel Nasser's counter-plans for an international advisory body linked with the United Nations to help run the Suez Canal.

Sources said Nasser rejected the Dulles plan for international control and then offered his counter-proposal in an effort to break the deadlock. They emphasized that neither the Menzies nor the Nasser proposals were final but were suggested in hopes of reaching a negotiated settlement.

MILD OPTIMISM

But while this mild optimism was reported, Major Russell, who is also minister of education, visited the Canal zone and instructed his Liberation army commanders to be ready for attack at any time.

Egyptian government sources said if the two sides were able to reach agreement on a compromise formula a second meeting of the London conference nations would be most likely convened. They added that Egypt would go with Nasser himself attending.

'PHONY CHAMPIONSHIP, FOURTH-RATE TEAM'

Smythe Refuses To Let Hap Day Coach 'Beat Russ' Hockey Team

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League today released a letter in which president Conn Smythe rejects a suggestion that Leaf general manager Hap Day coach the Canadian entry in the next world hockey tournament.

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association said last week that Canada will organize a team at Vernon, B.C., this fall, aimed at regaining the championship lost to Russia last winter by Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

The title had been won by Canada in 1955 when Penticton Vs defeated Russia.

In turning down a CAHA request that Day be given six months' leave of absence for the job, Smythe described the world tournament as a "phony world championship" and said the Canadian entry would be a fourth-rate hockey team.

Smythe's letter was sent

CONNIE SMYTHE
... pulls no punches.

Tuesday to Gorge Dudley, CAHA secretary-manager.

"So there will be no misunderstanding, I will repeat the statements previously made," Smythe said. "The Maple Leaf hockey organization feel that the advertising of the Moscow hockey games as the world championship is, to say the least, far-fetched. However, if they are to be recognized by the Canadian hockey authorities as such, then Canada should be represented only by our top team, or a team composed of the top players."

"This honor would, without question, belong to the Montreal Canadiens hockey club."

Smythe criticized the CAHA statement that a professional team would not be eligible to represent Canada. He said it does "not sit too well with us professionals, particularly as we have the knowledge that a minimum of 80 per cent of the so-called amateur players who represented us at last year's Olympic championships have been on the payroll, at one time or another, of our professional teams."

at by a board official today with the understanding that because of the many phases of the program which are still indecisive, any estimate could be altered either up or down before the school building program No. 3 becomes a referendum.

The new building program, following on the heels of a $3,913,000 construction total authorized in 1947 and a $3,129,000 construction authorized in 1954, now almost completed, and will mean over $10,000,000 in new school costs to this area in post-war years.

Heaviest expenditure of the new program will be at the intermediate and secondary school level as the postwar baby boom advances through formal education. Board officials feel the swelled enrolments will next be felt at university level.

In the last seven years school enrolments have bounced from 9,000 to 17,000 and there is no letup in primary enrolments.

Alternative to the new program, according to senior municipal inspector John Gough, is shift classes at junior and senior high school levels.

Landsdowne and Oak Bay junior highs were reported last week to be filled to overflowing and late registrants were warned that regardless of the area in which they live, they would be required to attend classes at S. J. Willis and Central Junior High schools. Teaching is being carried out in the auditorium and cafeteria at Oak Bay High.

First hints that the new school building plans were almost complete came at an Oak Bay council meeting Tuesday night.

Council was asked to reserve for school purposes three large municipally owned lots adjoining Oak Bay High school. A privately owned parcel will also be negotiated for.

ENCLOSE CREEK

Costs involved were not revealed.

Council was also asked to investigate possibility of enclosing Bowker Creek where it runs through the sites of Oak Bay junior and senior high schools to ensure health of pupils and to provide a larger playing area.

Municipal engineer A. S. G. Musgrave estimated cost of the materials alone for such a culvert at nearly $40,000.

It was indicated council would oppose transference of all the land required to the school board and would also oppose any municipal sharing of costs involved in covering Bowker Creek. The engineer was authorized to meet with the school board to discuss both matters and report back to council.

CLAIMS SOCREDS SPENT $250,000 ON SASK VOTE

Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan claims Social Crediters spent $250,000 on campaigning during the Saskatchewan election last June.

"I don't know where the money came from," he said, "but it certainly did not come from the people of Saskatchewan."

"My guess is it came from those who thought they stood to gain if Social Credit was elected in our province."

DOUGLAS

the same timber royalty rates as Saskatchewan over the past four years, government revenues would have been doubled to $160,000,000.

Minerals would have provided $14,000,000 instead of $14,000,000.

"That is the difference between governments which work for the people and governments which have to pay off obligations," the CCF premier said.

He conceded that, in all probability, a large part of our economy will always be privately owned and operated, but believed there is an important place for co-operative and public ownership of monopolies.

Six Greater Victoria candidates made brief speeches.

Frank Snowsall, Saanich: "The chief weakness of British Columbia's Social Credit government is its fear of criticism."

Mr. Bennett cries "smear" whenever he is attacked.

Elvan Walters, Esquimalt: "When I am elected I intend to stay in my own riding and do a good job. I shall not go out electioneering in other provinces."

William Caird, Victoria: "Organized labor is a very important part of the Canadian scene. More than a million people are organized in trade unions in Canada."

Mrs. May Campbell, Victoria: "Women all over the world are becoming more politically conscious."

Neil Himmle, Victoria: "I am a public ownership supporter."

Bert Thomas, Oak Bay: "The CCF believes in serving the people it represents."

Sommers Given Bennett Backing

RUTLAND, B.C. (CPI)—Premier Bennett expressed confidence in former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers during a campaign speech here Tuesday night.

"I know there are hundreds of thousands of people in this province who hope and pray Mr. Sommers will acquit himself," the premier told 550 persons in this fruit-growing centre seven miles east of Kelowna.

Mr. Sommers was accused of corruption in office last December before he resigned his cabinet post.

"Mr. Sommers' name has been smeared in the newspapers and over the radio and he realizes he must clear himself," the premier said.

He said the snap election had been called to obviate a long winter election campaign. Both Liberals and CCF parties had started nomination of candidates before Social Credit, he said.

"But now they are crying wolf," he said.

The premier made several predictions to his audience, most of them voters of the South Okanagan riding which he has represented since 1952.

He said Social Credit popular vote will rise to 60 per cent Sept. 19, and forecast that Pacific Great Eastern Railway will show a $10,000,000 profit during the next four years.

The new Trans-Canada Highway route through Rogers Pass will assist Okanagan fruit growers to reach prairie markets on a competitive freight rate basis, he promised.

When questioned about a 200 per cent property-tax increase in the Kelowna area, the premier replied:

"Don't worry, my friend. In Saskatchewan, taxes have increased 400 per cent."

Premier Bennett continues his campaign tonight with an address in nearby Summerland before moving into the North Okanagan.

His final campaign blow will be dealt on the eve of the Sept. 19 election in Kelowna, where he has operated a hardware business for many years.

PENTICTON (CPI)—Top officials of British Columbia's Social Credit government, including Premier Bennett, received scathing criticism here Tuesday night from George Gregory, Victoria Liberal MLA.

Former Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers was labelled a coward by Mr. Gregory for his bitter attack against key figures in the Sommers-Sturdy case.

Premier Bennett was criticized for allowing Mr. Sommers to remain in the Legislature with Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy's charges facing him. Attorney-General Robert Bonner's failure to disclose the details of an RCMP investigation of the Sommers-Sturdy case was termed disgraceful by Mr. Gregory.

Mr. Gregory said he did not wish that Premier Bennett had been killed on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway's inaugural trip. He wanted him to die of surprise on election day, Sept. 19.

Race Disorders Flare in South

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP)—Racial disorders flared across the south today as millions of children trudged to classrooms to start the third school year since the United States Supreme Court ruled segregation unconstitutional. But the outbreaks were sporadic and confined to small communities for the most part. Crowds dispersed early today even in troubled Tennessee.

Despite the disturbances, more Negroes than ever before were expected to attend integrated classes. Exact figures were not available, but the Southern Education Reporting Service at Knoxville, Tenn., estimated recently that about 300,000 of the 2,500,000 Negroes in 17 states and the District of Columbia now live in integrated school districts.

Most of the areas where Negroes and white persons went to school together were in the states bordering the Mason-Dixon line. With a few exceptions, the "Deep South" generally was holding firm against the high tribunal's integration decision of May 17, 1954.

NEGROES WALK HOME
Law and order, supported by Tennessee national guardsmen with tanks, appeared today to be winning out at Clinton. Nine of 12 eligible Negroes attended classes Tuesday and then walked to near-by homes in this east Tennessee town. They were taken home in cars previously. Only 257 white children out of the total enrollment 806 attended classes, however.

At Oliver Springs, 12 miles west of Clinton, a crowd of about 400 broke up soon after arrival of a National Guard reconnaissance patrol. Fred Giles, night police chief at Oliver Springs, said plans to march on Clinton to "get those Negroes" were abandoned. Two Negroes were arrested on charges of felonious assault in the wounding of a white man and 15 white persons were arrested on breach-of-the-peace charges during a riot at Oliver Springs Monday night. National guardsmen from Clinton finally broke it up.

HANG EFFIGIES

At Knoxville, Tenn., two Negro effigies were hanged from a flag tower at Fulton High School Tuesday night.

The 10-foot figures had signs around their necks reading: "This is Fulton's first Nigger, and the last, Amen."

"This is Fulton's first Nigger, who is next!"

No Negroes had attempted to register when Fulton classes opened Tuesday, although five were turned away at East High in Knoxville and one Negro child each was turned away from two elementary schools.

At Mansfield, Tex., a lawyer for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) said efforts to enroll 12 Negro pupils in the high school there have been abandoned for the present.

"We could not take them in there while that mob is standing there to do violence," he said.

Huge Highway Motel Gets OK By Saanich

220-Unit Job Between Burnside, Admirals Meets Stiff Opposition

Saanich council Monday by a vote of four to two approved a zoning by-law permitting the construction of a 220-unit $1,000,000 motel between Admirals and Burnside roads, on the south side of the Trans-Canada highway.

The zoning application was made by Capital Land Development Ltd., owners of the property, which will lease the land to a prospective motel builder.

E. A. Popham, solicitor for the firm, said the company will control the designs and architecture of the motels, which would be landscaped to include a garden and a large pond facing the highway.

BEAUTIFIES APPROACH
"In this way the motel will beautify the approach to the city," he said.

The project was opposed by the Community Planning Association of Canada, Victoria branch, and the Saanich Voters' Association, who claimed zoning by-law created a precedent, paving the way for the construction of other motels and ribbon development along the highway.

Braham Wiesman, capital region planner, also opposed the zoning by-law on the ground motels eventually would lead to the construction of access roads to the highway and destroy its purpose as an easy access to the city.

ANOTHER GORGE ROAD
Councillor Eugene Diespecker, who opposed the project, said he did not want to see the Trans-Canada highway become another Gorge Road where traffic was reduced to 30 miles an hour.

He was supported by Coun. George Austin who expressed concern with septic tank disposal into Colquitz Creek which empties into the Gorge.

Reeve Arthur Ash said the motel development did not constitute ribbon development. In addition, he said, it would provide optimum usage and highest evaluation for taxes as opposed to residential or warehouse development in that area.

Coun. T. J. O'Neill said council could not stand in the way of "progress" and the development of Saanich.

The Big Give-Away

IN THE AGENDA OF BRITISH Columbia's industrial development no item compares in importance to the future of the Columbia River's power. The interior, the coast and even Vancouver Island are dependent on that unequalled source of electricity and without it would face a disastrous shortage not many years hence.

The method to be used in harnessing and distributing the Columbia's power should therefore be a primary item in the agenda of provincial politics. Before they vote on September 19 the people should know how the Bennett Government proposes to approach this problem. Mr. Bennett has been remarkably silent on the Columbia, as on other matters familiar to the public. But he has said enough to show that he is ready to alienate vast quantities of power soon to be needed for our own use in British Columbia.

When the great interior river is dammed at Mica Creek power will be created at the dam, site and much of it carried to the coast for use in and around Vancouver and also on Vancouver Island. The largest extra supply of power will not be created in British Columbia. It will be created just south of the border in the United States.

Once the Columbia's current is tamed by the Mica Creek dam the total flow of water will not be increased by a drop but the usable flow will be vastly increased. At present the summer freshet waters spill uselessly over the American dams. Stored upriver from Mica Creek, they can be fed into the American turbines in constant quantity and our neighbors' total output of electricity will rise accordingly.

The primary question on the Columbia is the ownership of the power created in the United States solely as a by-product of a Canadian dam. And it is here that the Canadian and British Columbia Governments are in complete disagreement.

The Federal Government holds that Canada should recapture a large part, probably at least a half, of the new downstream power in the United States. In negotiating with the American Government Canada will claim this power and will refuse to accept cash in lieu of it.

Mr. Bennett does not agree with this federal policy. As he showed in the case of the abortive Kaiser dam deal, he is ready to sell our power for cash. Fortunately that deal was quashed by the Federal Government after Mr. Robert Sommers, former minister of lands and forests, had negotiated it with the Kaiser aluminum interests. Now Mr. Bennett would apply a similar formula to the main current of the Columbia.

In brief, he proposes that unnamed American interests shall build the Mica Creek dam at their own cost and turn it over, without charge, to Canada. With a "free" dam, says Mr. Bennett, Canada could make exceedingly cheap power at Mica Creek.

But by his plan Canada would lose the largest part of its potential power supply. For he does not propose that Canada should receive half the extra downstream power created in the United States by the Mica Creek dam. He has suggested that Canada should be satisfied with about twenty per cent in return for a "free" dam.

Here we are not dealing with some minor project like the Kaiser deal but with one of the largest sources of power in the world. The extra power to be created in the United States will amount to about eleven billion kilowatts per annum. The difference between Ottawa's demand for at least half of this power and Mr. Bennett's willingness to take about 20 per cent is the difference between an adequate future supply of electricity in British Columbia and an inadequate supply.

The dispute between Ottawa and Victoria is a dispute between the principle of holding every possible kilowatt of power for Canadian use and Mr. Bennett's principle of selling power to the United States for cash in the form of a "free" dam.

Is Mr. Bennett to be allowed to undertake a gigantic give-away of our power? That is the real issue, as Mr. Laing has noted in his recent speeches. About this and other vital issues Mr. Bennett is not taking the public fully into his confidence. He wants to be re-elected first and afterwards he will do as he pleases about the Columbia.

Happily, however, he does not fully control the Columbia's future. As it is an international river, the Federal Government alone can decide the division of its power between Canada and the United States.

But the Provincial Government alone can issue a licence for the master dam at Mica Creek or refuse to issue it. Mr. Bennett is in a position to block the national policy of conserving a maximum amount of Columbia power for future Canadian use.

The electors must decide whether he is to be given that chance and they should remember that the C.C.F. and the Liberal Party are absolutely opposed to his policy, as a surrender of vital Canadian interests to the United States.

'Hutch'

BECAUSE FRED HUTCHINSON was a relatively young man and appeared in normal health until his fatal heart attack on Sunday, the death of the Victoria Cougars' general manager and vice-president came with shocking suddenness to this community.

It is difficult to realize that the tall, quiet, young figure with the friendly smile will not be dropping in again on the newsroom of this paper, as he did so often in the course of his affairs in hockey. It is hard to accept the fact that his hands will no longer hold the reins of Victoria's most important winter professional sports club.

As a host of friends mourn his passing, they will have occasion to mark the place he had won for himself here.

Fred Hutchinson came to Victoria only seven years ago. Quietly he gained the confidence of all who met him and those who knew him only as the man Lester Patrick had chosen to handle the business of the hockey club. His was a personality that attracted people, and with it was joined a high competency in his work.

His contribution to the city has been amply shown in the crowds that attended the hockey games — the crowds for which he tried to provide good hockey, the best available within the club's means.

This community, where he had been so generally accepted in terms of respect and affection, is the poorer for his death, the richer for having known him.

Hunters and Fire

A FEW HOURS AFTER THE hunting season opened Saturday, the brush was burning on a Shawigan Lake hillside where gunshots had been heard earlier in the day.

Conceivably the fire might have been started there by some cause other than hunters, a cigarette flipped from a passing train, for instance. Yet the flames spread in an area adjacent to one where a big fire was caused by hunters several years ago.

Volunteers, aiding forestry men and a train crew, brought the flames under control before any serious damage occurred, but only the prompt action of these men averted a serious fire in the woods.

The incident should bring home to hunters the dangers existing in forests almost tinder-dry at this time of the year. They cannot afford to be careless with fire, matches, or cigarettes, any more than they can afford to relax caution in the handling of their guns.

Surely no one should have a greater appreciation for timber than hunters. Where the outdoors is destroyed an area of enjoyment for them is eliminated.

Another Registration

THERE IS NOTHING STARTLING in the city's announcement that its voters' list for the December council and school board elections will be opened on Tuesday and closed at the end of October.

This is a routine pronouncement made annually to remind those who have not placed their names on the city list and who must make special application to note the time within which they may register.

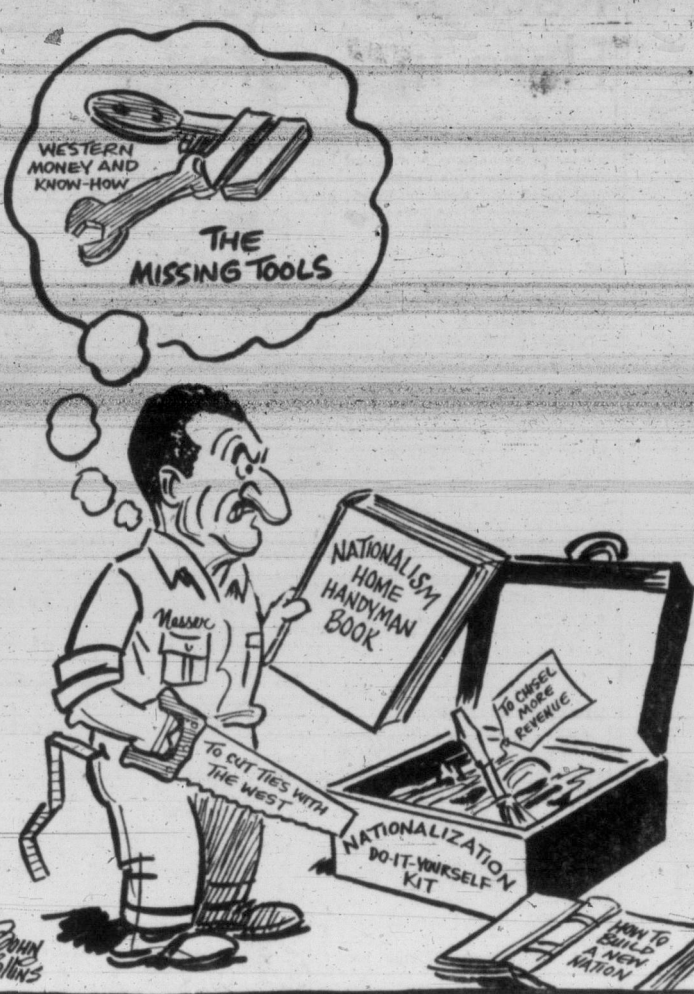

In the light of the provincial registration, however, it assumes particular importance. Because of the speed with which Mr. Bennett called the B.C. election numbers of people who should be entitled to vote will not be able to.

No such obstacle lies in the path of the city voter. He has ample time in which to assure himself that he will have a say in his own affairs at civic election time. It behooves him to make certain that he is on the list. Once on, he carries the moral responsibility to vote.

The franchise, as many will understand fully at the provincial election, is not to be taken lightly. Its exercise should not be ignored at the lower level of government.

The Do-It-Yourself Fad Hits the Middle East

THE THROWER WAS THROWN

By B. A. TOBIN

Two Women Named Nina

ONE of the most pathetic news stories to emerge in many months is the current hassle about Nina Ponomareva, the Russian girl athlete. Buried beneath all the hullabaloo about diplomatic immunity, political maneuvering, cancellation of the sports meet and so on, there is a real human interest drama. Here we have a 210-pound discus thrower — "husky," "burly," "barrel-chested," to quote some of the reports — her hair cropped short, her muscles bulging. An Amazon, if ever there was one, a female behemoth.

Tobin

All her life she has lived in the communist environment of sports practice, production quotas, factory statistics and political propaganda. All her feminine instincts have been submerged by her proficiency in a man's game and the general dehumanizing atmosphere of the communist state. But though buried, the instincts were there, imprisoned deep in that gargantuan figure.

Suddenly she is transplanted to a new environment. She is taken to London and allowed to roam through the stores. Never has she seen such a profusion of wonderful things — the feminine fripperies, the decadent capitalistic luxuries, the frivolous fancies she has been denied all her life.

Transfiguration

In a strange way she changes the soul of a girl bloomed inside the body of the discus thrower. She saw herself, not as a great horse of a woman, but as a sweet little maid who must respond to the beauties around her.

Imagine her delight at coming upon a hat department. Here, above all, was the antidote for Olympic statistics and factory norms; the never-failing pick-up, so we're told, for feminine spirits.

No doubt she looked at the exotic creations, the wide brims, the narrow brims, the veils. But how to get one? She spoke no English, couldn't understand the price tags. Surely the simplest solution was just to stick one in her handbag and walk out.

Standing at a counter filled with pastel-tinted hats she picked out one and hid it away. But there was another she just couldn't refuse. And another, of a different shade. And another, and another.

By this time the bag was bulging and Nina decided to call it a day. In imagination she could already see herself mincing down the street in any one of the five colorful chapeaux.

But fate and a couple of store detectives shattered the dream. As though Cinderella's midnight had struck, the frivolous little girl in the pretty hat suddenly reverted to the hefty female discus thrower. The shoplifter was back to weightlifter.

That, I imagine, must be somewhat the way it happened.

Nina's worst problem, of course, comes now. If she'd appeared in court, paid a small fine or even been let off with a caution, the whole thing could have been settled in ten minutes. But she might as well have stolen the Crown jewels or five Foreign Office dispatch boxes as the five little hats.

For the politically sensitive Russians everything must be interpreted in terms of for-the-state or against-the-state. This act would reflect on the Soviet Union, therefore it involved Government policy and prestige. First, naturally, the theft must be denied. Then, in secret, the culprit must be dealt with.

Now the diplomatic wheels are grinding, and they will grind far too fine for a 210-pound woman to slip through unscathed.

All the Elements

Tolstoy could have added 500 other characters and made a great novel of this. Dostoevsky could have found here a perfect interplay of crime and punishment. De Maupassant could have woven a tale about the five hats that would rival his famous story of the piece of string.

There are all the elements of drama and human tragedy. The suppressed longing for beauty, the temptation, the yielding, the arm of the law and the Machiavellian intrigues of international diplomacy.

Instead, no doubt, the story will be written in the platitudinous phrases of a London police station blotter, in the embittered press releases of the Soviet embassy, in the ribald comment of the Fleet Street features editors, and in the tear-stained diary—if anyone dares keep a diary in Russia—of the muscle-bound discus-thrower who for a few wonderful moments looked in the magic mirror of a London modiste and saw a beautiful young girl.

As Our Readers See It

Slipping Haloes

The more we see and hear of Soerod leaders the more they show that the first qualification of a Soerod leader is to have lots of galls.

When Mr. Bennett was in the Legislature in opposition to the Coalition which he deserted, he said when the Coalition claimed credit for the industrial boom then in progress, that no credit was due to the government in office. The boom was the result of a general swing of industry to the Pacific coast which was happening irrespective of the government.

That was in coalition days, but now that he is the Premier what a difference in his tune!

During the recent Saskatchewan election campaign "Soerod" leaders boasted that Social Credit would sweep the province. Results showed that the only sweeping was done by the Provincial Treasurer sweeping up lost Soerod deposits, 31 of them.

In Saanich Mr. Tisdale says the issue is Free Enterprise versus Socialism. In Victoria and elsewhere a similar chant is heard. Yet the Soerods claim as their greatest achievements the P.G.E. highways, schools, public buildings etc. which are all public property, the ownership principle of which Socialists seek to extend further.

The calling of the election now is another glaring example of spending public money for Soerod party purposes. They have been doing it for years in Alberta and here; other examples were the by-elections in Columbia, Similkameen and Victoria; the big spurge of the special trains inaugurating the P.G.E. extension; the extensive exhibition of Big Brother Bennett's picture on posters for B.C. products; the timing of announcements of the new Court House and other public buildings, all show that indeed they know the score.

It may be an omen that the P.G.E. Soerod special train was halted at Sunset Beach. And those good folks who now ride or seek to ride the band wagon may find before long that the band wagon has become a hearse, for the haloes have slipped and may become nooses for the holier-than-thou exhorters of the Soerodulous Party.

W. WOOD.

Prosperity at a Cost

Truly a government dealing in "visuals," the Soerods have put up "scenery" with which they hope to dupe the solvent householder—and the price is bankruptcy at the end of the trail.

Prosperity at an ultimate fearful cost is the Soerod prize—whereas consistent prosperity that dovetails into national security has always been Liberal policy. It is a policy of which Liberals are justly proud. And it is a policy that has welded the provinces together not driven them apart.

"STAUNCHLY CANADIAN."

Sales Tax

Premier Bennett stated at a political meeting that if Arthur Laing reduces the sales tax, it would wreck hospital insurance.

The truth is, that the income from sales tax for 1954—the latest figure available—was $55,806,485.49—and it is safe to assume for 1955 it was considerably higher, and the cost of BCHIS was only $26,519,978.82. It is evident from these figures that there would be sufficient money to cover the cost of BCHIS and leave tens of thousands of dollars for welfare purposes.

Any government that will reduce the sales tax will materially benefit everyone in the province, especially old-age pensioners on whom the Bennett 5 per cent fell most heavily. No wonder Mr. Bennett increased their pension. They deserved it.

Unlike members of the Soerod government, Arthur Laing is no newcomer to politics. He was elected to the House of Commons, June 29, 1949, was elected to the British Columbia legislature in 1952, so he is thoroughly versed in parliamentary procedure, and unlike Mr. Bennett and his cabinet members, brings with him knowledge of affairs in the House of Commons. These two facts should, therefore, qualify him well to be the premier of British Columbia.

However, I may say in closing, I am not a Liberal. I do not now, and never have belonged to any political party, but I shall campaign for anyone who plans to reduce the exorbitant sales tax of 5 per cent.

A Park Sold

In respect to the editorial in Tuesday's Times most readers will agree that a year in prison is a stiff sentence for the two young sailors who smashed windows and did other damage in Beacon Hill Park.

And yet, if this is a just sentence, and a fine and suspended sentence would not be sufficient to deter others from vandalism, what should be the punishment for those adults who recently sold the Burnside-Douglas Park outright over the protests of the citizens?

Possibly some of your readers can recall the whole of the little ditty which starts with the sentence, "He who steals the goose from off the common . . ." which ditty would appear to paraphrase this case.

In my opinion, much of the vandalism committed by young people today is a protest, unconscious perhaps, against the hypocrisy of those adults who are our leaders in all fields of life.

How Much?

On pain of being accused of "smear" tactics is it too much to ask Premier Bennett how much it cost the taxpayers for the political, tinsel traveling circus ride on the P.G.E. Railway?

CURIOUS.

Hunting and Driving

A change in hunting regulations prevents youngsters under 14 from hunting with their parents.

This is typical fascist encroachment on the family rights of parents. Dear me, should juniors under 14 years of age be prevented from riding in daddy's car, for fear of accidents? What's the difference?

For the sake of British freedom which is genuinely imperilled, parents should tell these family interfering people where to go.

The Voice of the People

BY JOSEPH ALSOP,

from Clatskanie, Oregon

THIS reporter has just completed two fearful, wonderful days of professional polling with Lou Harris, a master of this peculiar art. The first day took me up and down and back and forth through the city of Portland, and during this "Assess Day" we have quartered through Columbia and Clatsop counties, Polling, or at any rate Lou Harris's kind of polling, which involved a face-to-face, at-home interview with each of the 74 citizens we polled, is an astonishing experience in itself. What you get if you work hard enough is a great, rich slice of life, like a marvelous slice of fruit cake with humanity itself as the crumb of the cake and political surprises of every sort as the nuts and raisins.

You find yourself involved in the affairs of a retired Jewish chicken merchant, who has to spend his savings because he cannot get work at 67 and will not accept welfare payments. Or you have to pass lightly over the neurotic violence of a female McCarthyite, whose life's frustrations are tragically written on her too-plain face.

Or from a friendly Swedish cabinet-maker, you suddenly hear more good, down-to-earth common sense about the effects of the growth of Soviet power than you will hear in the Pentagon in many a month of Sundays.

Political Surprises

But these reports are expected to concern politics (although people, alas, are so much more interesting), so I suppose I had better turn to the political surprises aforementioned.

The human sample that was polled was of course much too small to be decisive. The results were straws in the wind at best. Yet the straws pointed so insistently in the same direction that they seemed to me highly significant, at least in the limited area we covered.

For example, I am now morally certain that the politicians and wisecracks are exactly 180 degrees wrong about the real issues in this election. The fashionable politico-wisacre theory of the current American mood shows the American people in the guise of a complacent hog, happily wallowing in "Peace and Prosperity."

The Republicans do not have a patent on this peculiar theory, either. Adlai Stevenson's astute campaign manager, James A. Finnegan, has proclaimed that "there is no mileage in foreign affairs or defence." Stevenson, who personally thinks these are the great issues, has none the less bowed to Finnegan's judgment, as he showed when he turned up in Portland while we were polling.

But our poll included the question, "What do you think is the biggest problem now facing the country?" And a good, solid majority of the carefully chosen samples answered, generally with the obvious conviction that comes from thought, that foreign policy was the biggest problem, and the one that interested them most.

They might use the phrase "peace or war," or they might say simply "the Russians" or "the Russian Communists" (although only one other person besides the female McCarthyite was worried about Communists at home).

At least six actually mentioned the Suez Canal crisis as their most immediate cause of alarm. In fact, we were by no means surprised when a grained old Finnish-American couple, living on a remote farm in the dyke lands west of this little town, correctly pointed out, that the Kremlin was using Egyptian President Nasser as a convenient tool against the Western allies.

Hard Core

In this respect, moreover, there was not the slightest distinction between prospective Eisenhower voters and prospective Stevenson voters. Only a very small hard core of extreme Republicans really credited the claim that Eisenhower has in fact brought peace in his time.

The rest were just as worried as the Stevenson enthusiasts, but hoped Eisenhower would get by somehow.

Nor was this amazing and stirring showing of realistic, patriotic concentration on our truly major national problem the only surprise of this curious experience.

In this supposedly public-powered area, a large majority were quite content with Premier Eisenhower's so-called partnership concept. Workers, who hated the Republicans as "the party of the big fellow," were still inclined against public power. Rock-ribbed Republican farmers wanted cheap public power for their barns and homes. But all in all, the power issue was not an urgent matter.

National Problems

After foreign policy, indeed, there was only a scattering of issues, with none dominant. Three serious Portland ladies, for example, chose "race relations" as the biggest national problem, and one of these was a stout-hearted young housewife in a workers' district who had taken a Negro couple as boarders to demonstrate her views. Rising prices, the farm problem and other obvious issues got a few votes each.

And there were special cases, like the Jewish chicken farmer who would vote for anyone promising work for the elderly, and the kind-faced housepainter who said that America's worst problem was the weakening of faith in God.

But altogether this polling experience afforded another proof of the late Sam Blythe's saying, that "it's always a mistake to play the great rancid American people for boobs."

Minutes Too Late

LONDON—It is strange the part that pure chance plays in our lives. Last night as my wife and I were walking around to our local pub I remembered a long distance call that I had to make. She went on alone and I returned to the house, saying that I would join her at the pub after I had made the call.

When I had finished, I left the house and was just turning the top of the street when I noticed a girl coming in my direction. I recognized her as someone we had seen several times in the pub and with whom we had exchanged occasional bits of conversation.

Presuming she was also on her way to the pub, I greeted her and noticed that she looked not at all happy. As we walked she put her handkerchief to her face from time to time and sobbed. I remarked on this, concluding that she must have had a tiff with her sweetheart or something.

She said: "Oh, no it's much worse than that."

She was obviously in a very wrought-up state and I said that perhaps she would prefer to walk alone, to sort out whatever problem was on her mind. She shook her head.

"But you're terribly unhappy about something," I said.

She turned and looked at me. "So would you be," she said, "if you'd seen your best friend lying dead in her flat . . . committed suicide, the place full of gas."

It was a shattering bit of news to hear and I had that rather helpless feeling of wanting to do whatever I could to console her but not knowing quite what to do. She had come out to get away from 19 reporters and photographers who were besieging the apartment block and when we got to the pub I seated her at a quiet table outside and went in and sought my wife. Women understand so much better how to deal with the situation of one of their own sex being in trouble.

My wife went with the girl to her home and later when I dropped around to pick her up I learned more of what had happened. The girl who had committed suicide had just moved into the flat. She had no financial worries. She had been extremely good looking, had won numerous beauty contests and was a highly-paid model.

"She was young, beautiful and had everything before her," I said to my wife as we were coming home. "Why did she do it?"

"A love affair went wrong. The man was never going to see her again and that just meant the end of everything for her."

"Who was the man?"

"He was an RSM, whatever that is."

"A regimental sergeant-major," I said. Then I stopped in my track. "There was an RSM came into the pub last night, just 10 minutes after she'd left. He asked if we knew where she was living now and how he could get in touch with her—and none of us knew this new flat of hers."

Strange the part pure chance plays in our lives. If he had been 10 minutes earlier . . .

parts of New York City and its suburbs. Every one of these persons his men had to find and interview and examine, also, 13 persons who had handled food at the party. In each case, specimens of the persons' stools had to be examined for the germs of typhoid fever.

Within nine days the problem was solved, and a man who at the party had prepared the salad was found to have typhoid fever bacilli in his stools. He was what we physicians call a "typhoid carrier."

Doubtless now the medical authorities are trying to cure the man; and in the meantime they will insist that he never prepare food for anyone but himself.

The other day a man living in Southern California came back from a vacation feeling badly. He became ill and soon died. When the doctors found that he had died of the terrible black plague that once almost depopulated Europe, they went to the place where he had gone for his vacation and found, as they expected, a number of ground squirrels dying of plague. Doubtless, a flea from one of these animals had bitten the man on the leg. Now the health authorities must kill off all the ailing squirrels in that region.

THE PAINFUL HIP OF CHILDREN
In a recent article in the Journal of Pediatrics, Drs. Norman J. Rosenberg and Earl E. Smith of Cleveland, discussed the painful hip of children. The trouble is generally due to a transient synovitis, or inflammation of the lining of the joint. The cause is not known. The condition tends to clear up by itself, and hence there is no reason for great alarm. However, the child should have an X-ray study made by an expert to be sure that no other more serious disease is present.

Usually there is a vague ache which causes a slight limp, or sores the child may lie with the thigh on the affected side pulled up toward his abdomen. There may be some tenderness of the tissues around the joint. X-ray studies will show no change in the bones. About all that can be done is to keep the child at rest. When there is pain he can be put in a hot tub, and he may have some aspirin.

Dr. Alvarez hopes his readers will understand that it would be impossible for him to answer requests for information or to attempt to diagnose by mail.

U.S. Ducks UN Vote On Slavery

GENEVA (Reuters)—The United States abstained from voting Tuesday when a United Nations conference here adopted a convention aimed at abolishing slavery. The conference voted 40 to 0 for the convention. The United States earlier declared it considered a better course would have been to get more signatures to the 1926 League of Nations convention, which the new convention supplements.

Pocket-Picking Woman, 70, Caught For 105th Time

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—A 70-year-old woman, Mrs. Maggie Reilly, was arrested Tuesday in a large department store on petty larceny charges. Police said it was Mrs. Reilly's 105th arrest on pickpocket and purse-snatching charges since 1908. She has been arrested in all the principal cities of the United States and Canada and has used 44 aliases, police added. The septuagenarian has spent a third of her life in jail.

Oak Bay Turns Down Architects' Scheme

Suggestion that design of Oak Bay's proposed new municipal hall should be decided by an architects' competition was discarded by Oak Bay council Monday.

Vancouver Island Chapter of the Architects' Institute of B.C. suggested a competition with awards valued at 1 per cent of the estimated $250,000 structure. The plan also involved payment of one-fifth of 1 per cent of the value to the assessor of the competition, a Vancouver planning consultant.

The plan was opposed by Reeve F. E. Norris who noted the usual charge for preliminary design is 5 per cent of the total value. He was puzzled though as to who will be appointed as architect and leaned toward an idea put forward by municipal clerk A. D. Findlay. "That we put all the names in a hat."

Individual councillors had mentioned three different firms in their discussions. Counc. Patrick Birley, himself an architect, was authorized to "find out who is available."

Oak Bay ratepayers will vote on the new hall in December elections. Proposed site is that of the old Oak Bay elementary school opposite Oak Bay Avenue, almost opposite the present municipal hall.

Army's History Ready On Canadians in Italy

OTTAWA — The second volume of the Official History of the Canadian Army in the Second World War will be published on Sept. 15, Army Headquarters announced today.

This book, which follows the course of the Canadian Army campaign in Italy and the Mediterranean area, is entitled "The Canadians in Italy 1943-1945." Its author is Lt.-Col. Gerald W. L. Nicholson, deputy director of the historical section of the General Staff.

Speaking of the forthcoming volume Col. C. P. Stacey, director of the historical section, said that it is to some extent a pioneer work. Neither the United Kingdom nor the United States has yet published a detailed account of the operations of the armies in Italy.

The book is directed primarily to the general reader, and particularly to the Canadian reader who wishes to know what the Canadian Army accomplished and why its operations took the course they did.

This publication is the second of three volumes on the Canadian Army in the Second World War. The first, written by Col. Stacey, is entitled "Six Years of War." It covers the army's organization, training and operations in Canada, Britain and the Pacific during the whole period of the war.

This volume, published in December 1955, went out of print in two months but has since been reprinted. The third volume, dealing with the campaign in Northwest Europe in 1944-45, is in preparation. A fourth volume will deal with Canadian military policy.

The book is the product of exhaustive investigation in Canadian, Allied and enemy records. It describes in detail the Canadian Army's part in the Italian campaign—from the invasion of Sicily in July, 1943, to the transfer of the 1st Canadian Corps to Northwest Europe in the spring of 1945. It rounds out the story of the campaign with an account of the final Allied offensive which ended with the capitulation of the German forces in Italy in May, 1945.

The Canadians in Italy 1943-1945 will be a cloth-bound volume containing 807 pages with 41 maps of which 27 are in

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY Mrs. Ben Barker (MOTHER OF 8)

Problem that frequently besets second-time parents: how to counteract jealousy in the older child when a new arrival appears on the scene. A few tricks that often work magic:

- Present a gift to the older child from the new baby.
- Set regular play hours in which baby is not included.
- Help the older child to understand that the baby belongs to him as much as to you and dad.
- Permit big brother or sister to share in the care of the baby by performing simple tasks.

For babies and their older brothers or sisters, Gerber offers specially prepared Strained or Junior Meats. Made from selected juicy cuts, they are carefully processed to preserve true meat flavors and precious vitamins and minerals. Most of the fat and coarse tissue is removed for easy digestibility. Both the Strained and Junior Meats are rich in the quality proteins so necessary for growth and the development of all body structures.

6 Gerber Strained Meats, with a smooth, easy-to-swallow consistency for wee ones. 3 Junior varieties, with an evenly minced texture to encourage toddlers to chew.

Fitting story. From time to time it's wise to check baby's sleeping patterns to see that he hasn't outgrown 'em. Check these points for tightness: neckband, armholes, crotch, length of sleeves and footed pajama legs.

For little ones of lap age—or older ones at the high chair stage—Gerber Strained or Junior Fruit Dessert makes a delightful end-of-the-meal treat. It's a delicious combination of juicy apricots, mild orange juice and mellow pineapple juice, nicely textured with a touch of tapioca. Gerber Baby Foods, Niagara Falls, Canada.

Saturday, Gardeners' Picnic Day

By JACK BEASTALL

Saturday of this week should be called Gardeners' Picnic Day, for it is so happens there are four shows and fairs scheduled for that date.

The second annual show at Victoria West will be in the Community Hall on Catherine Street. View Royal Garden Club's show in the Community Hall at the top of Four Mile Hill on the old Island Highway; Colwood Fair at the Community Hall on the Sooke Road; a show at Sooke of which I have no details.

Here is a wonderful chance of comparing the products and efforts of these districts by visiting all the shows on the one day.

Possibly the most noticeable thing will be the different types of flowers and vegetables which predominate in each locality. The classes having the most competition in one show are often empty in another community.

Another interesting point will be to compare the size and quality of exhibits in the four districts, noting how some sections tend to large potatoes and cabbage while others keep to the medium and small varieties.

Gardeners have told me that more than one show should not be scheduled for any day, but to me four shows in a day means a real holiday, lots of fun, meeting all kind of gardeners with all kinds of ideas; in short, a real picnic.

There is always something new to learn about gardening, and the shows are one of the best places to learn it.

my side of the story

A Continuing Series
By THE DUCHESS OF WINDSOR

David encountered his brother, the Duke of Gloucester, on one of his visits to the British Army sector near the Belgian frontier. While the two were visiting the billets, a company guard "turned out" to render the honors due to general officers.

The Duke of Gloucester had fallen behind to a friend. The guard presented arms as David walked by with the commanding officer. Automatically David returned the salute.

Several days later David was coldly notified that he had violated military etiquette by taking salute technically intended for his brother. David shrugged the incident off but the manner in which the rebuke was administered, the fact that so trifling an action had been deemed worthy of notice, was petty to say the least.

In that one respect we had two war years to deal with—the big and still leisurely war, in which everybody was caught up, and the little cold war with the palace, in which no quarter was given.

David has always had a gift for dealing with troops—the gift of the common touch and understanding. His admiration and respect for the fighting man in the ranks is deep, and its roots go back to the trenches of the First World War.

It seemed to me tragic that this unique gift, humbly proffered, was never really called upon—out of a fear, I judged, that it might once more shine brightly, too brightly.

April was lovely and May even lovelier. The sun shone; the flowers suddenly spangled the meadows and paths of the Bois de Boulogne. And with equal suddenness Hitler's forces sprang, and before one had really grasped that the Phoney War had ceased to be Phoney, it was all but lost.

Late in the afternoon of either May 15 or 16 David burst into the house. I had just returned from the Red Cross. Seizing my arm, he said, "The Germans are advancing. You're leaving Paris."

Malay Mosquitoes Heading for U.S.

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — A cargo of 8,000 live mosquitoes left Singapore Tuesday by air for Washington, D.C., to be used in research on virus disease.

me to take to my heels the minute Paris was in danger. Nevertheless, David insisted, and I finally said I would ask the advice of the American Ambassador, my friend Bill Bullitt. When I reached Bill on the telephone he was confidence personified. Nothing, he insisted, could defeat the great French Army. However, he finally suggested that it would be just as well if I went away, perhaps into the centre of France, until the situation was established.

We decided to head for Blois, where I had stopped with Perry Brownlow on my way to Cannes in 1936. I remembered the charming little hotel, and the kindly patron who ran it. If Bill Bullitt was right, Blois was the logical place to stay while assessing the situation.

The roads leading south and west from Paris were crowded as I have never seen roads crowded. There were endless lines of cars, many with a mattress strapped to the roof.

We had a hard, slow trip, with many long waits in the traffic. It was dusk when we finally reached Blois, and I was discouraged to see the entrance of the hotel blocked with cars. "There'll be no room for us here tonight," I warned David. The innkeeper recognized me as I entered the lobby and a smile lit up his weary, kindly face.

The entire population of Belgium has been trying to crowd into my little inn," he said distractedly. "I don't have a bed left. But I'll do something about you."

Eventually he found two small cots which he put in a tiny sitting-room on the ground floor. There David and I spent the night.

The next morning David decided to change the plan and take me on to Biarritz, on the Basque coast. From there, if the Germans overran France in a rush, it would be only a step to the Spanish frontier.

We were off again and in the late afternoon, very weary, we drove up to the Hotel du Palais, which was also packed to the rafters with refugees.

Early the following day David went back to Paris to rejoin the Mission. The German propagandists now played a most unchivalrous trick on me. For no purpose I could possibly imagine, unless further to demoralize the French, by suggesting that fifth columnists were everywhere.

The German radio blared out the news that the Duchess of Windsor had arrived at Biarritz, and was staying at the hotel. It even gave my room number.

Instantly I became the most unpopular guest in the long history of the Hotel du Palais. By my belated appearance I had brought this sanctuary to the notice of the enemy.

David telephoned every day. Through his guarded language I was made to realize that Paris was almost certainly doomed. Then, perhaps a week after my arrival at Biarritz, he called to say that his Mission had been ordered to leave Paris. A new threat had appeared. The entrance into the war of the Italians on the side of the Germans was imminent.

David was being given a leave of absence to close up La Crotte and also, to establish contact with the French forces drawn up along the Italian frontier.

The entrance into the war of the Italians on the side of the Germans was imminent.

David telephoned every day. Through his guarded language I was made to realize that Paris was almost certainly doomed. Then, perhaps a week after my arrival at Biarritz, he called to say that his Mission had been ordered to leave Paris. A new threat had appeared. The entrance into the war of the Italians on the side of the Germans was imminent.

Rout Pils Four Straight; Allan Gets Maitland Cup

Nanaimo 8, Pilseners 6
(Nanaimo wins best-of-seven final 4-0.)

NANAIMO—Four years of frustration went down the drain with a happy gurgle Tuesday night as the city of Nanaimo celebrated its first British Columbia senior lacrosse championship in five years.

The city's rebuilt and powerful Timberrmen dusted off Vancouver Pilseners, 8-6 in Vancouver to win their best-of-seven Inter-city Lacrosse League final in the minimum of four straight games.

Timberrmen now have a week and a half to pat themselves on the back until they pack their gear and head back for the Mann Cup Canadian final where never before has a western team won a dominion championship.

TOM DUBLINSKI

Argonauts To Waive Dublinski?

By The Canadian Press
Tom Dublinski on waivers? Preposterous, you say?

Not in the least, say reports from the Toronto Argonaut football camp.

Argo coach Bill Swacki today was faced with the almost unbelievable dilemma of having to place Dublinski, his brilliant $17,000-a-year quarterback in the Big Four Football Union, who is out with a knee injury, on waivers in order to retain 12 American imports who are in shape to play.

But, there's a catch. Swacki naturally doesn't want to get rid of Dublinski, leading Big Four passer last year. He may want to put him on the waiver list so he can get him on the reserve list.

This confusing situation cropped up Tuesday night when Argonaut officials said they had been informed in a telegram authorized by Big Four President Jim McCaffrey of Ottawa that all imports above the quota of 12 had to go on waivers before they could be named to the reserve list.

It had been understood each team could place two players on the reserve list without going through the waiver procedure. This would give clubs a total of 14 imports. The two reserve men could be used as replacements up to the Oct. 15 deadline. The waiver rule would not affect free agents signed after tonight.

The two reserve men could be used as replacements up to the Oct. 15 deadline. The waiver rule would not affect free agents signed after tonight.

Argonaut officials said they had been informed in a telegram authorized by Big Four President Jim McCaffrey of Ottawa that all imports above the quota of 12 had to go on waivers before they could be named to the reserve list.

It had been understood each team could place two players on the reserve list without going through the waiver procedure. This would give clubs a total of 14 imports. Reds Rock Braves To Hurdle Dodgers

IT'S MY VIEW
BY Bill Walker

The heart and hand are heavy today. "Hutch" doesn't answer at the hockey shop. Fred Hutchinson of the Cougars played his final game Sunday, and lost—to a greater executive.

It won't, and can't, be the same with the Cougars, without Hutch at the helm.

But he lost the way he wanted to lose—quickly, and without fuss.

"It'll be easier that way," he often said. "Overtime games wear me out."

He left his office, neat and tidy, as it always was. He left the club business affairs ship-shape, as they always were.

He had deals pending, and others on the fire, as always he sought to better the Cougar fortunes.

He worked for the fans, although he took their abuse. He fought for his players, although he would stand no insubordination.

He often berated league officials, but was always trying to consolidate league policy.

He irked several, because of his position as the responsible member of the hockey club, and many bars he took because of the malformations of the club. But always his critics respected him.

For the thought was: If anyone could do better, that person would be Hutch.

'First Class' Was His Creed
Many have been our moments with him. We've wrangled, argued, dined, and wined, with Hutch. The wrangles were always one-sided. The arguments were never seemed to win. The dinner was always sumptuous—it had to be. The wine was of the vintage befitting the occasion.

As he used to say: "It only costs 10 per cent more to go first class."

Which brings to mind that Grant and Bill Warwick have left Penitence to take up residence in the Sudbury area, and won't be "V's" any longer. . . . that ex-Cougar Jim Fairburn is doing a rousing business in Penitence and wishes to be remembered to all his friends in Victoria. . . . that the Cougars open training three weeks from last Monday. . . . that Vernon Canadians will probably be giving a little more than their best in the exhibition series with the Cougars for on their play may depend who will be selected to represent Canada in the Olympic hockey tournament.

MOE FORGOT HIS ENTRY FORM
TORONTO (CP)—Moe Norman of Kitchener, Ont., Canada's amateur golf champion, won't be competing next week in the United States amateur championships.

He said during the weekend that although qualified to enter, by virtue of the Canadian crown he won last month at Edmondston, N.B., he forgot to file his entry forms.

Former Wing Winger
Latest Cougar Hope
George Ranieri, 20-year-old former Detroit chaff, is expected to be the sixth left-winger in the Victoria Cougars' hockey camp when the Western Hockey League team opens training in Nanaimo Sept. 23.

Ranieri was signed by parent club, Boston Bruins, over the weekend.

He was formerly in the Detroit chain and played two games for Edmonton Flyers last season, but became a free agent Aug. 1, under hockey regulations.

He played last year for the Barrie Flyers of the OHA.

Ranieri brings the tentative Cougar training camp list total to 21. Other left-wingers bidding for the three berths that will be open include playing coach Colin Kilburn, Bruce Carmichael, Wayne Brown, Larry Berg and Don Chitupka.

Cincy Second In NL Race; Tribe Falters

By The Associated Press
Win, lose or draw, the Cincinnati Redlegs are almost certain to walk off with the following honors this year:

1. The most successful, extra-inning club in the major leagues.

2. The most powerful home-run hitting crew in big league history.

3. Possessor of the National League's rookie-of-the-year in Frank Robinson.

4. Owner of the No. 1 relief pitcher in both leagues in Hershel Freeman.

5. Having the manager-of-the-year in Birdie Tebbets.

DUMP BRAVES
The amazing Redlegs solidified their hold on all five honors Tuesday night by handing the front-running Milwaukee Braves a stunning 4-2 defeat in 10 innings, made possible by Robinson's 37th home run and Freeman's 20th victory-bringing relief job.

The Reds' brilliant fireman received credit for his 12th victory. He has saved 18 other games for Cincinnati.

GORDON PIRIE

Pirie Enjoys Fine Season, Sets Record

MALMOE, Sweden (AP)—Gordon Pirie, 25-year-old British salesmen, capped a summer of sensational running Tuesday by breaking the world record for the 3,000 metres and defeating Hungary's three top Olympic hopefuls.

Pirie was timed in 7:52.8 for the race that is 240 yards less than two miles. In winning, Pirie defeated Istvan Rozsavolgyi by five yards in a ding-dong last lap with Sander Thors 50 yards back and Laszlo Tabari a distant fourth.

The previous record of 7:56.6 seconds was set by Thors and equalled by Pirie in a track meet in Norway last June.

In the space of a few months Pirie has run the 800 in 1:56.4, two miles in 8:42.6, 5,000 metres in 13:36.8, a world record, three miles in 13:42.2, and 10,000 metres in 29:17.2.

Pirie is entered in the 5,000- and 10,000-metre races at the Olympics in Melbourne. There is no 10,000-metre Olympic race.

Ralph Forrester of Qualicum Beach won the men's championship by defeating clubmate Peter Barr in the final, while Bert Thirlwell of Gorge Vale won the first flight.

Can Frank Do It--- Take Double Award?

Cincy Rookie
Tabbed for MVP
Rookie Honors

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK (AP)—It isn't necessary to be on a pennant winner to be chosen a league's most valuable player any more than marrying the boss' daughter is a requisite to getting ahead, but it certainly isn't any handicap.

Which is why a half dozen or so National League players on three clubs have more than the normal, avid interest in their respective team's progress. The athlete who is hit to a pennant winner has a much better chance of being named MVP.

The American League award is wrapped up. Mickey Mantle unquestionably will get it on the first ballot, if not by acclamation. Of course he won't rate it. All he'll do is lead his league in home runs, runs batted in, average and other miscellaneous departments. Just a bum.

But in the National League Brooklyn Dodgers, Cincinnati Redlegs and Milwaukee Braves all have outstanding performers who certainly rate as candidates, and one of the players on the club that comes out on top will have the edge.

Should the Dodgers win, it is a good guess that the choice would be large Don Newcombe, who already has won more than 20 games, although the erratic Duke Snider might have considerable backing. Snider leads the league in home runs and is in the top five in runs batted in.

TOP ROOKIE

The Redlegs, who have been pretty much ignored as interest centered on the Dodgers and Milwaukee have a fellow who could win the double crown of rookie of the year and most valuable player if Cincinnati is in the world series.

It's never been hit, this baseball version of the daily double, but Frank Robinson is the guy who might do it. He'd hit 34 home runs last time we looked, and has been showing all-around class.

Robinson could have a little competition from teammates. Roy McMillan is one of the slickest shortstops in the business, and although he doesn't hit for an astronomical average he drives in runs.

And you can't forget the old reliable, Ted Kluszewski, who, after a slow start, has come strong and sports an average of around .314, is at or near the top in runs batted in, and has about 33 home runs.

The Braves certainly would enter Hank Aaron in the MVP sweepstakes. He is bidding for the league batting championship. Joe Adcock has come through with 34 home runs, and recently a few of them have been very timely indeed.

And if the Braves want to confuse the issue a little they could put out a few bluffs for pitchers Bob Buhl and Lew Burdette, both heading for the 20-game mark.

Like Father, Like Son— Jim on Olympic Team

MONTREAL (CP)—Cyclists Jimmy Davies of Vancouver and Fred Markus of Toronto Tuesday were selected to represent Canada at the Olympic Games in Australia.

Davies and Markus were chosen on the basis of their performance in four-day trials which ended here Tuesday. Davies won the 1,000-metre time trials and placed third in the 1,000-metre sprint trials.

Davies' father represented Canada in the 1928 games. Markus was third in the time trials, second in the sprints and tied for second Tuesday in the 12-mile road race. Ten competitors tried out for the two positions on the team.

The road event was won by Halifax-Dick "Kid" Howard. 134 Halifax decided to ride "Red Top" Davis, 138, Hartford, Conn., 18.

NORWEGIAN ACE SCORES OLYMPIC CIRCUS

OSLO (AP)—Norway's outstanding middle-distance runner Audun Boysen has informed the Norwegian Track and Field Association that he is not going to the Melbourne Games in November, the association announced Tuesday night.

Boysen, co-holder of the 1,000-metre world record of 2:19 and a great half-miler, has several times denounced what he called "the Olympic circus."

Second Place Stake For United Tonight

Victoria United will grab for second place in the Coast Soccer League tonight when it meets St. Andrews in a league match at Vancouver's Callister park.

Doug's Record Disallowed; Gets Another

TORONTO (CP)—Doug Kyle of Calgary, who ran in the 5,000-metre event at the three-day Canadian Olympic training program championships which ended Monday, today found he is minus one Canadian record.

Doug was clocked at 14 minutes, 45.2 seconds, against the existing Canadian record of 15 minutes, 16.2 seconds.

But officials found that the 440-yard track is not the same in metres. They remeasured the distance Doug was supposed to have covered and found they were 11 metres short of 5,000. Doug's "record" was tossed out.

However, he was timed for three miles and for that he set a Canadian record of 14 minutes, 18.6 seconds. That record will stand.

Two Canadians Signed by Braves

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee Braves today announced signing three pitchers, including two Canadians, to 1957 farm-club contracts.

Ken Mackenzie of Core Bay, Ont., was signed to an Atlanta Braves contract from a Puerto Rican team Tuesday.

Rizzuto, who is considering a flood of baseball, radio and television offers, declined to say whether he will fill in the blank contract offered for next winter by San Juan Senators.

The Puerto Rican League team is managed by an ex-Yankee teammate, catcher Ralph Houk. Rizzuto trained in San Juan in 1947 with the Yankees.

Esk Myth Destroyed? —Not So With Jackie

EDMONTON (CP)—Who can stop Eskimos? Any one who can stop Parker. And who's to stop Parker? Nobody in the Western Interprovincial Football Union—so far at least.

Edmonton's Grey Cup champions have beaten each of the other four teams in the league to date, giving them a clean 4-0 record.

Who's behind all these victories? Jackie Parker, of course. The brilliant Mississippi quarterback is a sleight of hand artist with a football, and a passer of some note as shown by his fantastic display in the last 90 seconds of Monday night's 21-20 win over Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Monday Eskimos made their most exciting comeback since their 1954 Grey Cup victory over Montreal.

Winnipeg backfielders like Bob McNamara of Minnesota, Bob Davenport of UCLA, and Buddy Leake ripped through the Edmonton line racking up second-half gains of 10 and 12 yards nearly at will.

Winnipeg sports writers hailed the game as "destroying the myth of Eskimo invincibility." The team had "never been ripped apart by a ball club the way they were manhandled in the second half."

With 90 seconds left and the chips down, the 24-year-old Parker proved once more that you have to stop Parker to stop the Eskimos.

He took to the air from the Edmonton 42-yard line, and completed three long passes to put the club in scoring position. Then showing no sign of the strain on his shoulders, he went through two penalty plays that carried play beyond regulation time and pitched a TD pass for victory.

Then there was Parker.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Football's Forward Pass 50 Years Old

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The forward pass is the exciting, explosive play that opened up—possibly saved—the game of football. It all started 50 years ago today.

It's finally been established beyond argument that the first forward pass was thrown by a St. Louis University player against Carroll College, at Waukesha, Wis., September 3, 1906.

It wasn't a desperate, hit-or-miss play but came after long planning by Eddie Cochems, former Wisconsin hero who coached the St. Louis team that season.

The origin of the pass once was the subject of debate. A movie several years ago on the life of Knute Rockne created the impression Gus Dorais threw the first to Rockne for Notre Dame against Army in 1913.

Both Dorais and Rockne have credited Cochems with pioneering the pass. So has the football Hall of Fame.

Argos Give Up On Billy Shipp

BETWEEN TIMES

By
MONTE ROBERTS

Our Very Own Candidates have chosen a slogan for the current election campaign.

Our Very Own Candidates, I trust you will remember, are Messrs. Elmer Fadd, Elmer Fadd, Elmer Fadd, Elmer Fadd, Elmer Fadd and sometimes Elmer Fadd.

In line with the non-partisan, all-friends-together, nicely-nice atmosphere of this election, Our Very Own Candidates have been very careful to choose a slogan which is ag'in politics.

(It is a widely-held belief among politicians that it is as safe to be ag'in politics as it is to be ag'in sin.)

Thus Our Very Own Candidates' Very Own Slogan is:

Vote for PEANUTS
not politics.

Elmer Fadd says there are several reasons for the selection of this slogan.

"For one thing," says Mr. Fadd, "Peanuts is the only thing the other parties haven't yet taken credit for."

"The other parties," says Mr. Fadd, "have taken credit for our great natural resources, our strong, virile pioneering spirit, our industrial expansion, our prosperity, the sanctity of the home, motherhood, and the right of every dog to have his licence."

"But in choosing peanuts as the main plank in our platform," says Mr. Fadd, "we were influenced by another fact. 'Peanuts is good for the people.'"

Asked why peanuts is good for the people, Mr. Fadd explains: "Because we SAY peanuts is good for the people."

"When you vote for peanuts, not politics," says Mr. Fadd, "you vote for a peanut in every pot, a peanut bag at every door, and a peanut shell for every shell game."

Mr. Fadd is convinced the people will sweep peanuts into power, and the shells under the rug.

Mr. Fadd also explains that peanuts is good practical politics. (How practical politics got into a non-political campaign is beyond me, but many a strange thing is happening this election.)

"Peanuts is practical politics for us," says Mr. Fadd, "because peanuts is what our campaign funds amount to."

What other political party—excuse it, movement—can make that statement?

"On election day," urges Mr. Fadd, "remember, vote for peanuts, not politics."

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Comox, Fortune, on exercises, return Friday.
Digby, Brockville, on exercises, return Friday.

Men and women from all walks of life—25 of them—will contest the six legislative seats representing the Greater Victoria district in the provincial general election on Wednesday, Sept. 19.

By calling their range from housewife, shipyard worker and car salesman to barristers, financial advisers, contractors and school teachers.

Their political faiths embrace all major parties, Liberal, Social Credit, CCF, Progressive Conservative, with LPP (Communist) in addition.

Most of them are battle-scarred veterans of the political wars, others are offering themselves for approval of the franchise for the first time.

There are not as many of them in the field this year as there were in 1953, when 28 candidates battled for the six

Greater Victoria seats, because the Tories this time have only one candidate in the three-seat Victoria riding, and there are no independents running.

Enamel Spray Makes Frig Look Like New in a Jiffy

By PENNY SAVER

It's something wonderful! It's something that many of you have wished for, but couldn't find... it's an enamel spray that will make your refrigerator and other enamel appliances look like new again. Scratches, nicks and chips can be covered up with the enamel from this spray bomb. A plasti-kote, self spray enamel, it requires no mixing and no brush. Just press the trigger and spray. Furniture, sinks and all enamelled surfaces, glossy or mat, can be renewed and given a new lease on life. White, green, chrome, aluminum, gold, copper, yellow and black are some of the colors available to you shoppers. The lids of the tins are the color of the enamel inside, so you can tell at a glance the tin you want. There's enough in each cylinder to re-coat a whole refrigerator. Each can is $1.89.

Corn on the cob is still a favorite at meal times, so you'll be interested, I'm sure, in the corn roast I saw. Made of yellow plastic is a set of cob holders, and matching these yellow cob-shaped handles is a spoon-like utensil that has slots at the bottom of the bowl of the spoon, which is curved to run over the cob, spreading the butter. The set of three is yours for just 29 cents.

Bone china coronation china-ware is proving very popular with both residents and tourists. Though the coronation is a thing of the past, mementos of the ceremony and occasion are still in demand all over the world. These cups are $3.50.

Mugs, ash trays, nut dishes, demitasse cups and pickle dishes in a heavier china are at various prices, and are patterned with regal scenes of the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II.

Last week I mentioned toy soldiers I found in a local toy store. I've found some more, but these are somewhat different. Guardsmen of sweet milk chocolate are the soldiers that caught my eye. There are four cream-filled soldiers in a cleverly designed box. This is 29 cents.

A picture parade of scenes to appeal to youngsters is viewed in the openwork box that holds six English caramel centred chocolate squares. Very tasty, two boxes of caramels, cost 29 cents.

Here's another of the rules proposed by a Canadian co-op paper to guide shoppers: Refuse to be rushed into purchases. Buy practically and ask yourself: "Is this the most important item to purchase at this time?"

Call me at 2-3131 and I'll tell you where to find any of the items mentioned in the column today or during past weeks.

Macaroni With Salmon

A fetching casserole on an early autumn evening is a team-up of 2 cans of Macaroni (3½ cups) with 1 can salmon (½ pound size—1 cup). Season it as you like with a bit of chopped cooked celery or green pepper—or olives. Mix it right in your casserole. Then top with buttered crumbs or crisp cornflakes. After just 20 to 25 minutes in a moderate oven (375 F.), this tempting dish is ready to serve.

Pussy Must Go

ROCHDALE, England (CP)—The 52 shops of the Rochdale Equitable Pioneer Society, Ltd., have been told "find homes for your cats or else destroy them." Managers of the Yorkshire firm were told that keeping cats is not in the best interests of hygiene. So far only six cats have been found homes.

WOMEN'S CANADIAN CLUB

Mrs. L. W. Topham, treasurer, Mrs. E. R. Penty, hospitality convenor, and Mrs. A. G. Slocumb, membership convenor, met recently to complete plans for a booth in T. Eaton Company music department this Thursday and Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., where membership tickets for the coming season will be available. First lecture on Sept. 12 in the Empress Hotel will have Prof. F. H. Soward, B.A. B. Litt., FRSC, Associate Dean of Graduate Studies at University of British Columbia as guest speaker.

Mrs. Rex Eaton Pleads For Safety in Driving

DOLLARTON, B.C. — "Every family looks forward with pleasure to a weekend of motor-pleasure together. Let it be a good memory through the team work for safety," says Mrs. Rex Eaton, O.B.E., president of the National Council of Women of Canada, representing more than half a million Canadian women.

"The men will do more driving than women on long trips but the one who is not driving has a large part to play in safety," she adds.

In a statement on highway safety, Mrs. Eaton recommends that the rules set out by the National Safety Council, which are based on studies of factors causing accidents and which make sense, be followed:

"Make sure doors are locked... particularly to protect the children, and do keep the children from playing with the door handles or push buttons;

"Children get tired and are apt to disturb the driver by their noise or even by leaning against him. Try to distract them with games for the car or stories related to the trip;

"Sometimes a cold, sweet drink from a thermos will help the situation;

"Keep the front and back windows free of dangling ornaments and parcels interfering with rear vision mirrors;

"Insist on coffee breaks every two hours at least, and walk around for a little while;

"Psychologists tell us that an angry person is accident prone. For safety's sake keep the conversation agreeable while en route.

"We fear accidents which all too frequently spoil a happy weekend but let us do some of these simple things which will help to remove some of the dangers of driving in heavy traffic."

League of Roses Annual Picnic

Annual picnic of the League of Roses (Lanes and Yorks) was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hughes, 3690 Braefoot Road. More than 70 members attended with their friends and each child received a present.

Games were played and prizes won by S. Mitchell and H. Horn, horseshoes; Mrs. H. Hardman and W. J. Evans, darts; Mrs. W. J. Evans, hidden treasure; Mr. and Mrs. J. Wrighton, needle and thread; Mrs. F. Arthur, Mrs. M. A. Dawson and Mrs. D. Horn, button-guessing. The mystery man was discovered by Mrs. S. McAllister.

In charge of refreshments was Mrs. K. Hughes and games were run by president H. Inman, assisted by W. Booth and Z. Worthington. Music was provided by accordionist F. Fairless. Mrs. A. Jones, assisted by Mrs. W. E. Dawson, was in charge of prizes and candy.

Canadian Foster Parents Needed

In its recent files at Unitarian Service committee headquarters at 78 Sparks Street in Ottawa is such convincing proof that many Canadians can ignore the distance which separates them from Korea and India, and love their little "foster-son" or "foster-daughter" just as much as if he lived right in their own home. These children are "adopted" under the USC Foster-Parent scheme for $60 per year; their case history and photograph tells their tragic background, but the letters they send to their Canadian sponsors demonstrate that much of their bleak past can be overcome by long-distance affection and generosity.

Coinciding with the launching of its new autumn campaign, the USC has extended sponsorship to three new institutions in Madras State, India, and to 40 war-mutilated boys and girls in the Handicapped Children's Home of Samyook in Seoul, Korea.

One hundred brand-new foster-parents are needed at once!

HEADS SCHOOL

Mrs. M. E. Godson, recently appointed headmistress of St. Margaret's School for Girls, to succeed Miss H. M. Pearce, has been associated with that school since 1939, for the past 10 years in the position of vice-principal. She was born in Victoria and after taking her BA degree at McGill University, made an early start on a teaching career in this city.

TODAY'S RECIPE CREAMED DRIED BEEF IN TOMATOES

Six medium sized tomatoes, salt, pepper, ¼ cup butter or margarine, ¼ cup flour, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 2 cups milk, 1 cup grated Canadian cheese, ¼ pound dried beef, shredded; 1½ cups corn flakes, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine.

Wash tomatoes; cut piece from stem end of each tomato; remove centres without breaking shell. Sprinkle inside with salt and pepper.

Melt butter; stir in flour and pepper. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly; cook until thickened, stirring occasionally. Fold in grated cheese and dried beef. Fill tomato shells with dried beef mixture; place in greased baking dish. Crush corn flakes slightly; mix with melted butter and sprinkle over tomatoes. Bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) about 30 minutes. Yield: Six servings.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

What shall we do about your skin? If no doubt has been dried out by the hot rays of the summer sun and will gladly soak up a little extra lubrication. Try one of the fine oils or a hormone cream or oil and find time to let it soak in longer than usual each day. This will be a great help in bringing your epidermis back to normal.

The pores may have become enlarged a bit during the hot season. You might like to use one of the facial packs on the market, or you may want to make a clay pack, which is said to refine the skin, mix equal parts of peroxide and witch hazel and add this to ¼ pound of Fuller's Earth. Add enough liquid to make the mixture smooth and easy to apply to the face. Let it dry on the face and remove later with water. Ice cubes wrapped in a soft cloth and then patted over the face is also a picker-upper routine for the complexion.

Lots of bright sunlight may have been good for your soul and your health but it was probably hard on your skin. It is too bad we cannot shed our skin like a snake each year. In that way we could have our chic suntan in the summer and quickly return to the lighter coloring which goes best with winter clothing.

The dark brown skin which was so attractive with whites and pastels will not look so well against the darker shades of greens and reds or with black. Sun tan seems to belong with summer duds rather than with the elegance of winter wear.

There are bleaching creams on the market, but I do not think they speed the process of fading very much. It usually just takes time. However you might try one. You might also use diluted lemon juice which is a mild bleach. This is irritating, however, to sensitive skins and is somewhat drying too.

Perhaps as part of your re-conditioning for fall clothes you would like to lose from five to 10 pounds quickly. If so, my 8-Day Reducing Diet gives you a loss of that weight in nine days. If you would like to have that booklet send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Make School Days Happy Days Education Expert Gives Few Tips

WASHINGTON—The day of liberation is here. The children are back in school.

But for your own good, send them trooping to the classroom full of smiles during the first weeks. Above all, don't make them feel like they're going off to jail, even if that's the way you looked at it as a kid years ago.

This piece of advice is given out by Dr. Helen Mackintosh, chief of the Elementary School Section in the U.S. Office of Education.

She's the expert on school children for grades one through six at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Recently, Dr. Mackintosh was the only woman among 10 federal career service employees to receive the National

Give the teachers time and don't curtail outdoor play are two of the suggestions Dr. Helen Mackintosh has for the first weeks of school.

Perfume Bottles Displayed in Wolfville, N.S.

WOLFVILLE, N.S. (CP)—Lined up in a polished wood case at the Wolfville Museum is a display of perfume bottles that delight women visitors with their beauty and unusual design.

The display was made available to the museum by Mrs. J. W. Harvey, of Port Williams, N.S., who collects the bottles as a hobby. In the short time it has been on view it has become one of the main attractions for women visitors to the museum.

Another recent acquisition is a French clock with alabaster case, provided by Dr. A. MacMillan, who has a large collection of unique timepieces. A towering grandfather's clock also catches the eye.

The Wolfville Museum, operated by the Wolfville Historical Society, contains a great number of items illustrating the story of earlier days in Nova Scotia. Two floors of four rooms each and the corridors as well are filled with articles, pictures and documents of historic interest.

Civil Service League's career service award.

She was chosen for the honor because of her distinguished leadership in elementary school education here and abroad.

"The parents' attitude is reflected in their children," she says. "Therefore, they should put the positive emphasis on school. Often, however, they picture it as a bad place to go."

Dr. Mackintosh suggests that parents encourage their youngsters to return to school with materials and hobbies shared in the summer vacation.

Here are some other back-to-school tips she has for mothers and fathers:

Give teachers time. Don't expect your youngster to become an overnight quiz kid.

Go along with the general plan of instruction that your child receives. Don't fly off the handle if Johnnie doesn't get his education exactly as you did.

Talk to teachers and principals at school before being critical at home in front of the children.

Balance your children's activities. Don't give them so many things to do, such as music and dancing lessons, that they never see daylight.

"Because kids don't have the kinds of outdoor chores they used to, they should have plenty of active, outdoor play," explains Dr.

Mackintosh. "They also should not come home and glue themselves to a TV set."

See to it that your children get worthwhile books several times a year, if you can afford them. And set up a place where they can start their own library.

Dr. Mackintosh is hardly the scholarly, ivory-tower type. On loan to the Foreign Operations Administration in 1954, she traveled 1,200 miles through Cambodia in a jeep.

Occasionally venturing into unexplored territory, she met with more than 1,000 elementary school principals during her six-week trip.

What surprised her most were the questions principals asked, such as:

"What is your salary?" or "What is your age?"

"These questions are considered polite in Cambodia," she explains. She didn't duck either one, by the way.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Season cooked or canned sweet potatoes and whip until fluffy. Pile in greased baking dish, sprinkle thickly with brown sugar, dot with butter and cover with chopped almonds. Bake in hot oven to melt sugar and brown almonds. Serve with baked ham.

Start off school days with a hearty breakfast. A bowl of oatmeal cereal with some raisins mixed in, topped with brown sugar and butter is good eating and bulges with minerals and vitamins.

To make apple crisp with a different flavor, mix up a batch of graham wafer pie crust, sprinkle it over canned apple slices or apple sauce in a baking dish, and bake like ordinary apple crisp.

Crisp cabbage shreds, strips of processed cheese and bologna and cooked California large dry lima make an excellent hearty salad. Toss with a mayonnaise dressing with accents of catsup and wine vinegar.

Curried chicken salad, accented with cubes of flavormsome avocado balls and crisp thin celery slices, is delicious to serve with individual molds of the new black raspberry gelatin stepped up in flavor with the juice of a lemon.

Young Lawyers Urged To Give Help to Needy

MONTREAL (CP)—All citizens, rich or poor, have a right to legal advice when it is needed, the Canadian Bar Association was told Tuesday.

B. R. Guss, Queen's counsel from Saint John, N.B., told the association's junior section that if lawyers do not provide the needy with legal protection there is a possibility of government intervention.

Needy citizens are entitled to expect "as a matter of right, not charity," that lawyers will provide them with legal service, he said.

This field presents keen young lawyers with an unbounded opportunity for which they can earn the "everlasting thanks" of Canada if the challenge is faced, he said.

As examples of how governments can move into professional fields, he cited British state medicine and also noted that Britain has instituted a system in which the government provides free legal service for those who cannot afford to pay.

Fish Given Chance For Another Year

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N.Y. (AP)—

Five-year-old Bobby Belcher was fishing with his father in the St. Lawrence River. On his second cast he caught a four-pound, nine-ounce large mouth bass.

After his father photographed the fish and registered it for a fishing contest, Robby made a decision. He asked his father to throw the fish back. "Maybe I'll catch him again next year," he said.

Party Leaders' Promise Sought On Improvement

Commitment by each of the party leaders in the forthcoming provincial election that the capital city improvement plan will be continued has been suggested to the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber has been asked by Victoria lawyer R. D. Harvey, QC, to press the party leaders for such commitments and the request has been taken under advisement by the chamber directors.

Support of organized labor for the suggestion has been asked.

Union Leader Explains Why Labor Opposes Ike

BRIGHTON, England (Reuters)—Emil Rieve, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations, said Tuesday American labor is "vigorously opposing" the re-election of President Eisenhower.

ask Andy

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of the Canadian Edition of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to David Northwood, aged eight, Westview, B.C., for his question:

What Kind of Animal is a Polecat?

Our Mr. Skunk is sometimes called a polecat. But this nickname is borrowed from a distant cousin who lives in Europe and parts of Africa. Both have musk glands and can foul up the air when annoyed. This could explain the borrowed nickname. The two cousins do not look alike or act alike. Yet both belong to the most expensive dressed family of animals in the world. They are cousins of the mink, the ermine, the otter and the martin.

The old world polecat is a ferret. He acts like a weasel and looks like a weasel. He is a bloodthirsty meat-eater. His long, slender body is quick and graceful as a cat. The first part of his nickname came from poule, the French word for chicken. Drop one letter and add cat. Mr. Polecat earned his name as a chicken thief. He is also one of the world's best ratters.

This fact was noted thousands of years ago. Even in Roman days, certain polecats - ferrets were trained to help with rat and rabbit hunting. Trained ferrets were part of farm life in Asia over 2,000 years ago. Many a country boy in England still keeps a couple of caged ferrets to help keep down the rat and rabbit population.

These are handsome, highly bred animals. Their graceful bodies are slightly smaller than their wild cousin cousins. They have thick soft coats and bushy tails. Some are dark brown or tan. The favorite color is a delicate, honey blond. The sharp teeth and hungry red eyes suggest the fierce characters of these beautiful animals.

For these reasons, the little furies have never been tamed as real pets. They are kept in strong cages, for those teeth can chew through soft metals. A boy must learn to handle his ferrets with care or they will bite his hands. He holds them firmly around the jaw to keep those sharp teeth closed.

In their cages, the restless ferrets are never still. They are forever trying to escape or take a bite from someone. This is strange, for, should the trained ferret escape, he soon perishes. Not, however, before he has left a trail of blood through the nearby chicken yards. The highly bred strains of ferret have been dependent on man so long that they can no longer cope with life in the wild. They have even forgotten how to use their musk glands. Trained ferrets never foul up the air.

When hunting, the little furies are carefully leashed and muzzled. The jaws are held together in a twin-barreled cage. Otherwise the ferrets would stop to devour the rats and rabbits in their burrows. Actually, they are used only to scare the hunted animals out into the open.

Before the hunt, the farmer scouts for the various burrow openings. Someone is posted at each exit with a club or gun. Then a leashed polecat is allowed to slither down one burrow opening. The hunted animals flee in terror from this member of the graced weasel family. The farmer and his boys are waiting as they try to flee to safety through another exit.

Monroe Ill; 'Gastritis' Hubby Says

LONDON (UP)—Marilyn Monroe is ill but she is not expecting, her studio announced today.
Her husband, playwright Arthur Miller, interrupted a New York visit to his children to fly to her bedside.

"It's absolute rubbish," he told airport reporters who asked about London newspaper reports the blonde actress is pregnant. He said she had gastritis.

A studio spokesman said Miss Monroe has what he called a "tummy ache" aggravated by overwork and the nervous strain of her new movie, "The Sleeping Prince."

The spokesman said she had been ordered to bed at her suburban residence of Englefield Green.
"As far as we know there is absolutely nothing to the report in the papers that Miss Monroe is pregnant," the spokesman said. "This information comes from her most intimate friends."
Miller confirmed this later when he reached London at noon on a hurried flight from New York. Miss Monroe telephoned him two days ago she was ill.

Movie Houses Close Doors In Tax Row

Washington State 5% Levy Protested

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—It was "last time tonight" at this city's three theatres—for real.

Managers of the show houses said they would close their doors after the evening performance in protest at the city's 5% admission tax.

Harry Minor, manager of the Olympic Theatre, made the announcement for himself and the managers of the Capitol and State theatres. He said the drastic action was decided upon after a futile campaign to persuade the city commission to eliminate the tax, which was first enacted during the Second World War.

Minor said the theatres had been absorbing the tax but were losing money by doing so. The only place Olympians will be able to view the movies will be in the neighboring city of Tumwater, which recently rescinded an admission tax.

Susan Hayward Drops Ex-Husband's Name

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Susan Hayward legally changed her name Tuesday.

But it won't affect her movie name. Susan Hayward never has been her legal name.

All she did in Superior Court was resume her maiden name of Edythe Marrenner and drop her married name of Barker.

She explained to the judge that she always has conducted her legal affairs and business dealings under her maiden name.

Miss Hayward is divorced from actor Jess Barker.

BLONDE BOMBER

Sixteen-year-old Natalie Trundy, a blonde screen starlet, has unleashed a mild bomb at Marlene Dietrich, another blonde actress. She called Marlene a "cold fish." She said that the veteran film queen threw her gloves into Natalie's face, declared she'd never make another picture with her and thereafter "never spoke to me." Natalie had been making her film debut in Rome with Marlene in "The Monte Carlo Story."

A Full Week's Engagement
"The Ladykillers"
Starring Alec Guinness, Cecil Parker, Herbert Lom, Peter Sellers, Danny Green and Katie Johnson
This is our opinion: it is the comedy gem of the year! Those of our patrons who remember Guinness in "Kind Hearts and Coronets," "The Lavender Hill Mob," etc., will know that he is the master of the subtle comedy that which keeps you laughing week and month after the week.
"The Ladykillers" is the hilarious story of a rag band of crooks whose carefully laid plans are trumped by the implacable charm and quiet dignity of a dear little, guileless old lady, played by Katie Johnson—who just about steals the whole picture herself. Don't be anything else you from seeing this one! In Technicolor too. Plan to see it as early as possible to avoid disappointment.

School Permit Given Despite Protests

Oak Bay council Monday night approved an application for a private kindergarten licence in a prime residential area despite loud protest by a group of petitioners against the school.

Two councillors, F. W. Hawes and C. H. G. Mann recorded votes opposing the licensing. Application had been made through the provincial welfare department by Mrs. P. J. Sealy, 1275 St. David. Council had notified all property owners in the vicinity, advising that under the municipal zoning by-law schools were permissible in any residential area.

As a result 10 persons, headed by lawyer Donald Cameron, 1269 St. David, appeared with signatures of another 10 residents of the area who jointly felt their properties would be depreciated if the Sealy property was unsuited to a school being too small and exposed to adjacent property holders and too close to highways; there are sufficient kindergartens in Oak Bay now; and adjoining properties are owned mostly by retired persons who require quiet.

REPLY TO OPPOSITION

Mr. and Mrs. Sealy both spoke to the opposition: "We've been preparing since June when I bought equipment. They could have come and seen us, rather than doing it this way..." said Mrs. Sealy.

"No neighbor ever entered our home to see if it is suitable or not," said Mr. Sealy. He said he was retired after 28 years as an army officer and depended on a sterling pension. "It's our home—I've been accustomed to living as a gentleman. We are not going to allow it to become a dump."

To the charge that the school for 15 children aged five to six was an industry or "a straight business enterprise," Mrs. Sealy asked in reply, "How many paying guest houses are there immediately around there?"

Council debated the matter following the hearing afforded the petitioners in the upstairs large hall above the municipal offices.

Councillor George Murdoch pointed out that only the presence in Oak Bay of private kindergartens avoids a demand for kindergartens to be set up by the district 61 school board... "and all our taxes would go up accordingly."

Seldom Regular

Perhaps you are not getting at the cause of your constipation. Good-tasting Kellogg's All-Bran has helped millions correct a common cause of constipation: lack of good food bulk in the diet. Laxatives that contain no bulk cannot overcome this condition. All-Bran, made of whole wheat grain, provides all the bulk (gentle roughage) you need daily for regularity. Kellogg's—the original, ready-to-eat bran cereal. Enjoy comfortable, natural regularity within 10 days or return the empty carton and get twice what you paid.

Royal Family Photographer Dies —Was Amateur, Became Famous

LONDON (UP)—Baron Naim, an amateur photographer who turned professional after flunking out of school and business, suddenly died today in the midst of a famous career as official photographer to Queen Elizabeth.

He was 49 years old. Baron, as he was known in the worlds of royalty, fashion and movies, died of a heart attack while recovering from a hip operation.

He was a twin who failed his college entrance exams and, at the age of 30, failed in business. He entered photography with a cheap camera his mother gave him and was a fabulous success.

The Royal Family picked him to make the official photographs of Queen Elizabeth's marriage to the Duke of Edinburgh.

He took the first pictures of Prince Charles and many more famous shots of the Royal Family. Millions of Britons knew his vision.

The second demolished cabin was unoccupied.

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Pacific Great Eastern Railway today said more than 3,500 persons traveled over its new southern section between Squamish and North Vancouver during the holiday weekend.

The 40-mile section, linking Vancouver with the line to Prince George, was opened Aug. 27 by a train carrying Premier Bennett and 300 official guests. Regular passenger service started from North Vancouver Friday and 15 trains traveled each way during the weekend.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bill Black, business agent for the Hospital Employees' Union, Tuesday night challenged a statement made last week by Health Minister Eric Martin that there had been "colossal annual increases in hospital wages." Nominations Set 3-Way Fight

Over 200 Seeking 52 Seats in House

Battle for the 52 seats in the next B.C. legislature boiled down to a three-way tussle when nominations for the Sept. 19 election closed at 1 p.m. today.

More than 200 candidates are standing, and with the close of nominations it became clear that the fight for control of the new House will be between the present Social Credit government, the CCF Official Opposition and the Liberal party.

Each of these groups had almost full slates nominated in the ridings, but the Progressive Conservatives, attempting to stage a comeback after their debacle of 1952-53, had fielded only two dozen candidates and could not elect enough to get control of the Legislature even if all were successful.

Unofficial summaries as closing time arrived gave the Social Credit and Liberal parties 52 candidates each and the CCF 47, but there were a few ridings to be heard from at the last minute and these were expected to boost the CCF total to 51.

Thirteen Labor, Progressive (Communist) candidates were in the running and there were seven Independents.

In the last election, Jan. 8, 1953, there were 229 candidates fighting for 48 seats. The Legislature was enlarged by four members at the last sitting, including a member for the new Peace River-North constituency.

Standing of the House at dissolution was Social Credit 28, CCF 14, Liberals 4, Independent Labor 1, Independent 1.

Premier Bennett and all members of his cabinet are standing for re-election. The Premier himself is in a four-way fight in South Okanagan, with Capt. C. R. Bull, a former Liberal M.L.A., Walter Ratzlaff of the CCF and Brayne Weddell, P.C., opposing him.

Bonner Tangles With Liberal Chief

Attorney-General Robert Bonner is seeking return in his Vancouver Point Grey riding. On the same ballot, in a field of 13 candidates, will be Arthur Laing, Liberal party leader.

In Kamloops riding Highway Minister P. A. Gagliardi is opposed only by T. P. Wilson, Liberal and Victor Mauro, CCF.

Education Minister Ray Williston has opponents of the three opposition parties, including Frank L. Perry, Liberal, who is the son of former education minister Harry Perry.

Robert Sommers, the former lands and forests minister and a controversial figure in the campaign, is opposed also by representatives of the three opposition parties in Rossland-Traill.

Robert Strachan, CCF leader of the Opposition, is in a three-way fight in Cowichan-Newcastle with Rev. Charles W. Parker, former S.C. member for Peace River and Robert Harvey, Duncan lawyer, opposing him for the Liberals.

Deane Finlayson, the Progressive Conservative leader, is contesting North Vancouver against ten others for the two seats. The Labor, Progressive party leader, Noel Moran, is a candidate in Vancouver Centre.

Twenty-five representatives of five political parties are contesting the six Greater Victoria seats.

Mrs. Lydia Arsens, 55, only woman member of the last legislature, is seeking re-election as a Social Credit member for Victoria and is one of 13 women nominated.

Three were chosen by the CCF party, three by the Liberals and three by Labor-Progressive. Social Credit named two and the Conservatives one.

Remaining lady aspirant is Mrs. Margaret Murray, editor of the Alaska Highway News, who has chosen to run as an Independent in Peace River North.

Thomas J. Irwin, speaker of the legislature, received the Social Credit party's nod to run again in Delta, now a three-seat riding.

TWO-TRAIN CRASH KILLS 20 RAILMEN

SPRINGER, N.M. (AP)—Twenty railway workers perished early today when the speeding Santa Fe Chief passenger train smashed head-on into a side-tracked mail train in northern New Mexico.

Railway officials said the death toll may be higher when wrecking crews pry into the twisted and torn cars of the Chief.

At least seven persons were injured. Santa Fe spokesmen said as far as can be determined no passengers were killed in the early-morning tragedy.

December Vote On Schools

A $3,000,000 school building program will be presented to Greater Victoria electors in a referendum this December.

The program includes construction of one new high school, one new junior high school, five new elementary schools, major additions to four existing junior and senior high schools and additions to six existing elementary schools.

The referendum will require a three-fifths, or 60 per cent, yes vote to pass.

District architects have been asked to complete preliminary plans to assist board officials in estimates.

Here is the list of proposed projects:

SERVE ESQUIMALT

A new high school to serve Esquimalt, View Royal and Colquitz areas.

A new junior high school for Gordon Head area.

A new Uplands elementary school.

A new elementary unit in the Ruxton Road area.

A new elementary unit at Hampton Road.

A new eight-room Marigold school.

A new elementary unit to be known as Norlake School, on Milner Avenue near Quadra Street.

Additions to Oak Bay Senior High School, including eight classrooms, a band room, industrial arts and home economics teaching spaces, enlargement of the present auditorium gymnasium, installation of a new heating plant and improvement to administrative offices.

Additions to Mount Douglas High School involving construction of four to six classrooms, two industrial arts and two home economics rooms.

Additions to Oak Bay Junior High of four classrooms and a band room.

Additions to Lansdowne Junior High School in form of a two-story wing including 10 classrooms and additional washrooms.

Unspecified additions, probably four rooms each to Frank Hobbs, Monterey, Sir James Douglas and Gordon Head elementary schools.

TENTATIVE PROGRAM

School board chairman W. H. Golby, in announcing the program, pointed out that the new program is still tentative and must be approved by the provincial department of education.

He said that sites for new schools have been chosen, but are subject to change depending upon negotiations to gain ownership.

The new high school serving the Esquimalt, View Royal, Colquitz area likely will be built in the northern section of Esquimalt and may mean the present Esquimalt high school will in time be relegated as a junior high.

The junior high school slated for Gordon Head will be similar in size and design to the Lansdowne and Colquitz junior highs. It will serve the Gordon Head, Mount Douglas, Mount Tolmie and Cadboro Bay areas.

The estimated total building cost of $3,000,000 was arrived at.

RAISE OFFERED

Conciliation officer W. T. McLaughlin informed the union management was willing to increase its offer above terms of a conciliation report rejected last month by the union.

A union spokesman indicated the membership would likely reject the new offer.

Union requests include a journeyman mechanic rate of $210 an hour, 10-per-cent increase for other classifications, 40-hour, five-day week with 40-hour guarantee, nine statutory holidays, two weeks' holiday with pay after one year, full union shop and one-year contract.

Present rate for mechanics is $178½, there are no statutory holidays and the work week is 44 hours.

New company offer would give $2 an hour, "proportionate" increases for other classifications, existing maintenance of union membership, two-year agreement, 40-hour five-day week worked Monday-Saturday between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.

BRITONS PUT COLOR ON ANY TV SCREEN

BIRMINGHAM, Eng. (UP)—British researchers were reported tonight to have developed a method of television broadcasting which produces an illusion of color on ordinary black and white screens.

The process is called "subjective color," and an experimental commercial will be broadcast to the public Saturday.

Asked to comment on the reports, Philip Dorte, Midlands controller of the Associated Television Co.—one of the commercial stations—said:

"We expect to make in the next few hours a statement which may be the most important ever made in television since it was first broadcast from Alexandra Palace in London on November 6, 1936."

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP)—All 12 enrolled Negroes entered class at Clinton High School today amid deaf silence from white pupils clustered around.

There still were fewer white pupils than usual, but more than Tuesday, when only 257 white boys and girls showed up at the start of the school's second week of integration following a riotous week of anti-integration activity.

Ten of the Negro students, five boys and five girls, formed a single file to pass through the white students outside the building.

Aside from a muted "Here they come," there was silence from the crowd for the first time since the Negroes enrolled last week.

After classes started a room check showed 312 white pupils present for a total of 324.

The Clinton and other racial disturbances flared across the southern states as millions of children began the third school year since the United States Supreme Court ruled segregation unconstitutional. But the outbreaks were sporadic and confined to small communities for the most part.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the federal government should not intervene in racial disturbances arising from school integration unless the states are unable to maintain order.

Questioned on disorders in Texas and elsewhere at the opening of integrated schools, Eisenhower told a press conference he believes the states thus far have handled their problems adequately.

Eisenhower said the United States would be in a bad way if the federal government fell into the practice of using its police power habitually and continually.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

OUR FATHER, Who hast taught us that we are made in Thine own image, teach us the unity of Your family and the breadth of Thy love. Forbid that from any pride or hardness of heart we should despise any for whom Christ died or injure any in whom the Spirit that was in Him lives. Amen.

CCF PREMIER HERE

Public Ownership B.C. Need—Douglas

Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan called on the people of British Columbia Tuesday night to support public ownership of its natural power and resources.

"In Saskatchewan we believe those who pay the piper should call the tune," the diminutive CCF premier told a crowded CCF meeting at Central Junior High School.

On a five-day speaking tour of B.C. he declared:

"Under public ownership we have been able to give service at cost. Every year a surplus goes back to the people—not to shareholders in London or New York or Montreal.

"We have had five reductions in power rates in the last 10 years and another is coming up very soon. Every dollar we make goes back to the people in reduced rates and improved services."

Mr. Douglas tackled the election issues in light-hearted vein and made no direct attack on the Social Credit government. But he twitted Premier Bennett for referring to Highway Minister P. A. Gagliardi as "an outstanding man of God."

"Did he mean that Mr. Gagliardi was next to God or next to the premier—or both?" Mr. Douglas asked.

COULD BENEFIT B.C.

He said Socialist policies which have benefited people of the wheat province could benefit the people of British Columbia.

He said the Saskatchewan government paid as much attention to people living in isolated communities as to those in big cities.

"We know that if we didn't have people cutting down trees and trapping animals, there wouldn't be any cities. By the end of the year 40,000 farms in Saskatchewan will have electric power and by 1960 there will be power for 65,000 farms.

"In B.C. only 19,500 farms have electric power."

"The man who lives in a town of 200 has as much right to service as a man who lives in a city of 2,000."

Mr. Douglas said B.C. Telephone Company had a net profit of $2,708,000 last year which went in dividends to shareholders. Saskatchewan's public telephone service showed a profit of $2,750,000 which went back to the people in lower rates and improved service.

PREMIER DOUGLAS ... twits B.C.'s Bennett

"That is why you can still make nickel phone calls in Saskatchewan," he said.

He said if B.C. had charged

'PHONY CHAMPIONSHIP, FOURTH-RATE TEAM'

Smythe Refuses To Let Hap Day Coach 'Beat Russ' Hockey Team

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League today released a letter in which president Conn Smythe rejects a suggestion that Leaf general manager Hap Day coach the Canadian entry in the next world hockey tournament.

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association said last week that Canada will organize a team at Vernon, B.C., this fall, aimed at regaining the championship lost to Russia last winter by Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

The title had been won by Canada in 1955 when Pentleton V.s defeated Russia.

In turning down a CAHA request that Day be given six months' leave of absence for the job, Smythe described the world tournament as a "phony world championship" and said the Canadian entry would be a fourth-rate hockey team.

Smythe's letter was sent

CONNIE SMYTHE ... pulls no punches.

Tuesday to George Dudley, CAHA secretary-manager.

"So there will be no misunderstanding, I will repeat the statements previously made," Smythe said. "The Maple Leaf hockey organization feel that the advertising of the Moscow hockey games as the world championship is, to say the least, far-fetched. However, if they are to be recognized by the Canadian hockey authorities as such, then Canada should be represented only by our top team, or a team composed of the top players."

"This honor would, without question, belong to the Montreal Canadiens hockey club."

Smythe criticized the CAHA statement that a professional team would not be eligible to represent Canada. He said it does "not sit too well with us professionals, particularly as we have the knowledge that a minimum of 80 per cent of the so-called amateur players who represented us at last year's Olympic championships have been on the payroll, at one time or another, of our professional teams."

at by a board official today with the understanding that because of the many phases of the program which are still indecisive, any estimate could be altered either up or down before the school building program No. 3 becomes a referendum.

The new building program, following on the heels of a $3,913,000 construction total authorized in 1947 and a $3,129,000 construction authorized in 1954, now almost completed, and will mean over $10,000,000 in new school costs to this area in post-war years.

Heaviest expenditure of the new program will be at the intermediate and secondary school level as the postwar baby boom advances through formal education. Board officials feel the swelled enrolments will next be felt at university level.

In the last seven years school enrolments have bounced from 9,000 to 17,000 and there is no letup in primary enrolments.

Alternative to the new program, according to senior municipal inspector John Gough, is shift classes at junior and senior high school levels.

Lansdowne and Oak Bay junior highs were reported last week to be filled to overflowing and late registrants were warned that regardless of the area in which they live, they would be required to attend classes at S. J. Willis and Central Junior High schools. Teaching is being carried out in the auditorium and cafeteria at Oak Bay High.

First hints that the new school building plans were almost complete came at an Oak Bay council meeting Tuesday night.

Council was asked to reserve for school purposes three large municipally owned lots adjoining Oak Bay High school. A privately owned parcel will also be negotiated for.

ENCLOSE CREEK

Costs involved were not revealed.

Council was also asked to investigate possibility of enclosing Bowker Creek where it runs through the sites of Oak Bay junior and senior high schools to ensure health of pupils and to provide a larger playing area.

Municipal engineer A. S. G. Musgrave estimated cost of the materials alone for such a culvert at nearly $40,000.

It was indicated council would oppose transference of all the land required to the school board and would also oppose any municipal sharing of costs involved in covering Bowker Creek. The engineer was authorized to meet with the school board to discuss both matters and report back to council.

CLAIMS SOCREDS SPENT $250,000 ON SASK VOTE

Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan claims Social Crediters spent $250,000 on campaigning during the Saskatchewan election last June.

"I don't know where the money came from," he said, "but it certainly did not come from the people of Saskatchewan."

"My guess is it came from those who thought they stood to gain if Social Credit was elected in our province."

the same timber royalty rates as Saskatchewan over the past four years, government revenues would have been doubled — to $160,000,000.

Minerals would have provided $74,000,000 instead of $14,000,000.

"That is the difference between governments which work for the people and governments which have to pay off obligations," the CCF premier said.

He conceded that, in all probability, a large part of our economy will always be privately owned and operated, but believed there is an important place for co-operative and public ownership of monopolies.

Six Greater Victoria candidates made brief speeches.

Frank Snowsall, Saanich: "The chief weakness of British Columbia's Social Credit government is its fear of criticism. Mr. Bennett cries 'smear' whenever he is attacked."

Elvan Walters, Esquimalt: "When I am elected I intend to stay in my own riding and do a good job. I shall not go out electioneering in other provinces."

William Caird, Victoria: "Organized labor is a very important part of the Canadian scene. More than a million people are organized in trade unions in Canada."

Mrs. May Campbell, Victoria: "Women all over the world are becoming more politically conscious."

Neil Hindle, Victoria: "Through public ownership we can give you a higher standard of living."

Thomas, Oak Bay: "The CCF believes in serving the people it represents."

Sommers Given Bennett Backing

RUTLAND, B.C. (CP) — Premier Bennett expressed confidence in former lands and forest minister Robert Sommers during a campaign speech here Tuesday night.

"I know there are hundreds of thousands of people in this province who hope and pray Mr. Sommers will acquit himself," the premier told 550 persons in this fruit-growing centre seven miles east of Kelowna.

Mr. Sommers was accused of corruption in office last December before he resigned his cabinet post.

"Mr. Sommers' name has been smeared in the newspapers and over the radio and he realizes he must clear himself," the premier said.

He said the snap election had been called to obviate a long winter election campaign. Both Liberals and CCF parties had started nomination of candidates before Social Credit, he said.

"But now they are crying wolf," he said.

The premier made several predictions to his audience, most of them voters of the South Okanagan riding which he has represented since 1952.

He said Social Credit popular vote will rise to 60 per cent Sept. 19, and forecast that the Pacific Great Eastern Railway will show a $10,000,000 profit during the next four years.

The new Trans-Canada Highway route through Rogers Pass will assist Okanagan fruit growers to reach prairie markets on a competitive freight rate basis, he promised.

When questioned about a 200 per cent property tax increase in the Kelowna area, the premier replied:

"Don't worry, my friend. In Saskatchewan, taxes have increased 400 per cent."

Premier Bennett continues his campaign tonight with an address in nearby Summerland before moving into the North Okanagan.

His final campaign blow will be dealt on the eve of the Sept. 19 election in Kelowna, where he has operated a hardware business for many years.

LIGHTNING STRIKES TWICE

Sommers Apologizes For Gagardi Grounding

TRAIL, B.C. — "They say that lightning doesn't strike twice in the same place but it would seem otherwise here," R. E. Sommers, Rossland-Trail Social Credit nominee told a crowd of 400 in the Combo hall. He was making an apology for the failure of arrival of Hon. P. A. Gagardi, grounded somewhere in the north. In 1953 Mr. Gagardi failed to keep an appointment to speak in the same hall. "Every effort will be made to have this dynamic speaker here before September," promised Mr. Sommers.

Gregory Hangs 'Coward' Tag On Sommers

PENTICTON (CP) — Top officials of British Columbia's Social Credit government, including Premier Bennett, received scathing criticism here Tuesday night from George Gregory, Victoria Liberal MLA.

Former Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers was labelled a coward by Mr. Gregory for his bitter attack against key figures in the Sommers-Sturdy case.

Premier Bennett was criticized for allowing Mr. Sommers to remain in the Legislature with Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy's charges facing him. Attorney-General Robert Bonner's failure to disclose the details of an RCMP investigation of the Sommers-Sturdy case was termed disgraceful by Mr. Gregory.

Mr. Gregory said he did not wish that Premier Bennett had been killed on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway's inaugural trip. He wanted him to die of surprise on election day, Sept. 19.

ONE OF THREE HMCS Malahat new entries who won engraved Boson's call for proficiency after course at Great Lakes Training Centre for naval reserves is AB (N) J. S. Caldwell. Others are OSCRS E. H. Haldane. Awards were based on outstanding qualities of appearance, bearing, conduct, leadership, sense of duty, and scholarship.

Minutes Too Late

LONDON—It is strange the part that pure chance plays in our lives. Last night as my wife and I were walking around to our local pub I remembered a long distance call that I had to make. She went on alone and I returned to the house, saying that I would join her at the pub after I had made the call.

When I had finished, I left the house and was just turning the top of the street when I noticed a girl coming in my direction. I recognized her as someone we had seen several times in the pub and with whom we had exchanged occasional bits of conversation.

Presuming she was also on her way to the pub I greeted her and noticed that she looked not at all happy. As we walked she put her handkerchief to her face from time to time and sobbed. I remarked on this, concluding that she must have had a tiff with her sweetheart or something.

She said: "Oh, no it's much worse than that."

She was obviously in a very wrought-up state and I said that perhaps she would prefer to walk alone, to sort out whatever problem was on her mind. She shook her head.

"But you're terribly unhappy about something," I said.

She turned and looked at me. "So would you be," she said, "if you'd seen your best friend lying dead in her flat . . . committed suicide, the place full of gas."

It was a shattering bit of news to hear and I had that rather helpless feeling of wanting to do whatever I could to console her but not knowing quite what to do. She had come out to get away from 19 reporters and photographers who were besieging the apartment block and when we got to the pub I seated her at a quiet table outside and went in and sought my wife. Women understand so much better how to deal with the situation of one of their own sex being in trouble.

My wife went with the girl to her home and later when I dropped around to pick her up I learned more of what had happened. The girl who had committed suicide had just moved into the flat. She had no financial worries. She had been extremely good looking, had won numerous beauty contests and was a highly-paid model.

"She was young, beautiful and had everything before her," I said to my wife as we were coming home. "Why did she do it?"

"A love affair went wrong. The man was never going to see her again and that just meant the end of everything for her."

"Who was the man?"

"He was an RSM, whatever that is."

"A regimental sergeant-major," I said. Then I stopped in my track. "There was an RSM came into the pub last night, just 10 minutes after she'd left. He asked if we knew where she was living now and how he could get in touch with her—and none of us knew this new flat of hers."

Strange the part pure chance plays in our lives. If he had been 10 minutes earlier . . .

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Use More Salk Vaccine

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

It is said that today so many parents are failing to protect their children from polio.

Even in a city like Chicago, where a serious epidemic is present, most parents are not bothering to have their children vaccinated, even when it wouldn't cost them a cent. It is hard to understand this apathy. Probably many persons do not realize how great the danger is for their children, and perhaps many still fear that the vaccine is not safe.

Actually, today, it appears to be 100 per cent safe. Many do not realize how efficient the vaccine has been. For instance, I just read that among the children who, this year have come down with paralytic polio, not a single one had received the recommended three injections. There had been only 10 cases among those who had had one injection, and there were only five cases among those who had had two injections.

In this column I shall keep reminding all of you readers that you should keep honoring and supporting those fine public health authorities who are constantly on the watch for beginning epidemics. As soon as someone in a big city comes down with a dangerous infectious disease, the health officers begin on what sometimes proves to be a tremendous job of detective work. For instance: last June, in New York City, a girl came down with typhoid fever. Fifty years ago when I was a young physician, this would not have excited any comment, because in those days of sewage-contaminated drinking water, practically everyone had to have typhoid fever. But, today, in the United States, typhoid fever has been practically wiped out; and hence when a case appears, health officers are much disturbed. They immediately set out to find where it came from.

In this case, it was found that the girl had attended a big church party in the Bronx. That the infection had come at this gathering was indicated by the fact that two other girls who had attended the party had gotten the disease. Dr. Louis Penn got a list of the 150 or more guests who had come from all parts of New York City and its suburbs. Every one of these persons was men had to find and interview and examine, also, 13 persons who had handled food at the party. In each case, specimens of the persons' stools had to be examined for the germs of typhoid fever.

Within nine days the problem was solved, and a man who at the party had prepared the salad was found to have typhoid fever bacilli in his stools. He was what we physicians call a "typhoid carrier."

Doubtless now, the medical authorities are trying to cure the man; and in the meantime they will insist that he never prepare food for anyone but himself.

The other day a man living in Southern California came back from a vacation feeling badly. He became ill and soon died. When the doctors found that he had died of the terrible black plague that once almost depopulated Europe, they went to the place where he had gone for his vacation and found, as they expected, a number of ground squirrels dying of plague. Doubtless, a flea from one of these animals had bitten the man on the leg. Now the health authorities must kill off all the ailing squirrels in that region.

THE PAINFUL HIP OF CHILDREN

In a recent article in the Journal of Pediatrics, Drs. Norman J. Rosenberg and Earl E. Smith of Cleveland, discussed the painful hip of children. The trouble is generally due to a transient synovitis, or inflammation of the lining of the joint. The cause is not known. The condition tends to clear up by itself, and hence there is no reason for great alarm. However, the child should have an X-ray study made by an expert to be sure that there is no more serious disease present. Usually there is a vague ache which causes a slight limp, or some pain at night. Rarely there is a little fever. The child may lie with the thigh on the affected side pulled up toward his abdomen. There may be some tenderness of the tissues around the joint. X-ray studies will show no change in the bones. About all that can be done is to keep the child at rest. When there is pain he can be put in a hot tub, and he may have some aspirin.

Dr. Alvarez hopes his readers will understand that it would be impossible for him to answer requests for information or to attempt to diagnose by mail.

Oak Bay Turns Down Architects' Scheme

Suggestion that design of Oak Bay's proposed new municipal hall should be decided by an architects' competition was discarded by Oak Bay council Monday.

Vancouver Island Chapter of the Architects' Institute of B.C. suggested a competition with awards valued at 1 per cent of the estimated $250,000 structure. The plan also involved payment of one-fifth of 1 per cent of the value to the assessor of the competition, a Vancouver planning consultant.

The plan was opposed by Reeve F. E. Norris who noted the usual charge for preliminary design is 5 per cent of the total value. He

Army's History Ready On Canadians in Italy

OTTAWA.—The second volume of the Official History of the Canadian Army in the Second World War will be published on Sept. 15. Army Headquarters announced today.

This book, which follows the course of the Canadian Army campaign in Italy and the Mediterranean area, is entitled "The Canadians in Italy 1943-1945." Its author is Lt.-Col. Gerald W. L. Nicholson, deputy director of the historical section of the General Staff.

Speaking of the forthcoming volume Col. C. P. Stacey, director of the historical section, said that it is to some extent a pioneer work. Neither the United Kingdom nor the United States has yet published a detailed account of the operations of the armies in Italy.

Profit-Taking Hits Industrial Upsurge

A two- and a half hour advance on the Toronto market today came to an abrupt end during afternoon dealings as profit-taking cut the top prices and threw the industrial index for a loss.

The market opened strong with industrials gaining almost a point in the first hour and then reversing its action.

New York staged a brisk advance in the heaviest trading of two weeks before late profit-taking slashed many gains.

Good-year lost three points and Anglo Canadian Pulp and Paper two points on light turnovers.

Western oils received strength from Canadian Atlantic, Canadian Export Gas and Consolidated Royalties were ahead. Base metals were traded in narrow ranges.

AT NEW YORK U.S. Steel hit a new high, Bethlehem gained a point and D. Pont 2 points. Union Oil of California, an exceptional gainer, rose nearly 5 points on news of its new big plant in Costa Rica.

Royal Dutch gained more than a point and Gulf Oil around 2. Steels, aircrafts, oils and some coppers paced the advance at its best.

AT LONDON the market opened on a firm note today although business showed no marked expansion.

A government announcement Tuesday of a sharp fall in Britain's gold and dollar reserves has had little effect on the market. Sentiment was aided by optimism over the Suez Canal talks.

AT VANCOUVER a thick market saw prices a fraction higher. American Standard gained four cents on a sale of 15,900.

BANKS HIKE INTEREST ON SAVINGS SEPT. 15

MONTREAL (BUP)—Interest rate on personal savings accounts will be increased from 2 1/4 to 2 1/2 per cent effective Sept. 15, the Canadian Bankers' Association announced late Tuesday.

The latest increase will bring the personal deposit interest rate to the highest point since November, 1934.

GRAIN QUOTATIONS

WINNIPEG (CP)—Hesitation on United States markets today contributed to an easier tone in most prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Commercial demand was not aggressive, although there were reports of small sales of oats to the United Kingdom and flax to the Continent.

Buying was prompted by reports of sharp short overnight on the Prairies and unfavorable harvest weather. Outside selling, however, sent all grains down towards the close of the session. Oats and barley moved narrowly; flax prices were up and down; rye down throughout.

No information was available on overnight export wheat loadings. Lakehead prices for Class Two, IWA and domestic wheat were down one-eighth cent from Tuesday.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Enamel Spray Makes Frig Look Like New in a Jiffy

By PENNY SAVER

It's something wonderful! It's something that many of you have wished for, but couldn't find... it's an enamel spray that will make your refrigerator and other enamel appliances look like new again. Scratches, nicks and chips can be covered up with the enamel from this spray bomb. A plasti-kote, self spray enamel, it requires no mixing and no brush. Just press the trigger and spray. Furniture, sinks, and all enamelled surfaces, glossy or mat, can be renewed and given a new lease on life. White, green, chrome, aluminum, gold, copper, yellow and black are some of the colors available to you shoppers. The lids of the tins are the color of the enamel inside, so you can tell at a glance the tin you want. There's enough in each cylinder to re-coat a whole refrigerator. Each can is $1.89.

Corn on the cob is still a favorite at meal times, so you'll be interested, I'm sure, in the corn roast trio I saw. Made of yellow plastic is a set of cob holders, and matching these yellow cob-shaped handles is a spoon-like utensil that has slits at the bottom of the bowl of the spoon, which is curved to run over the cob, spreading the butter. The set of three is yours for just 29 cents.

Bone china coronation china-ware is proving very popular with both residents and tourists. Though the coronation is a thing of the past, mementos of the ceremony and occasion are still in demand all over the world. These cups are $3.50.

Mugs, ash trays, nut dishes, demitasse cups and pickle dishes in a heavier china are at various prices, and are patterned with regal scenes of the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II.

Last week I mentioned toy soldiers I found in a local toy store. I've found some more, but these are somewhat different. Guardians of sweet milk chocolate are the soldiers that caught my eye. There are four cream-filled soldiers in a cleverly designed box. This is 29 cents.

A picture parade of scenes to appeal to youngsters is viewed in the openwork box that holds six English caramel centred chocolate squares. Very tasty, two boxes of caramels, cost 29 cents.

Here's another of the rules proposed by a Canadian co-op paper to guide shoppers: Refuse to be rushed into purchases. Buy practically and ask yourself: "Is this the most important item to purchase at this time?"

Call me at 2-3131 and I'll tell you where to find any of the items mentioned in the column today or during past weeks.

Macaroni With Salmon

A fetching casserole on an early autumn evening is a team-up of 2 cans of Macaroni (3½ cups) with 1 can salmon (½ pound size—1 cup). Season it as you like with a bit of chopped cooked celery or green pepper—or olives. Mix it right in your casserole. Then top with buttered crumbs or crisp cornflakes. After just 20 to 25 minutes in a moderate oven (375 F.), this tempting dish is ready to serve.

Pussy Must Go

ROCHDALE, England (CP)—The 52 shops of the Rochdale Equitable Pioneer Society, Ltd., have been told "find homes for your cats or else destroy them."

Managers of the Yorkshire firm were told that keeping cats is not in the best interests of hygiene.

So far only six cats have been found homes.

WOMEN'S CANADIAN CLUB

Mrs. L. W. Topham, treasurer, Mrs. E. R. Penty, hospitality convener, and Mrs. A. G. Slocomb, membership convener, met recently to complete plans for a booth in T. Eaton Company music department this Thursday and Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., where membership tickets for the coming season will be available. First lecture on Sept. 12 in the Empress Hotel will have Prof. F. H. Soward, B.A., B. Litt., FRSC, Associate Dean of Graduate Studies at University of British Columbia as guest speaker.

Mrs. Rex Eaton Pleads For Safety in Driving

DOLLARTON, B.C.—"Every family looks forward with pleasure to a weekend of motoring together. Let it be a good memory through the team work for safety," says Mrs. Rex Eaton, O.B.E., president of the National Council of Women of Canada, representing more than half a million Canadian women.

"The men will do more driving than women on long trips but the one who is not driving has a large part to play in safety," she adds.

In a statement on highway safety, Mrs. Eaton recommends that the rules set out by the National Safety Council, which are based on studies of factors causing accidents and which make sense, be followed:

"Make sure doors are locked... particularly to protect the children, and do keep the children from playing with the door handles or push buttons;

"Children get tired and are apt to disturb the driver by their noise or even by leaning against him. Try to distract them with games for the car or stories related to the trip;

"Sometimes a cold, sweet drink from a thermos will help the situation;

"Keep the front and back windows free of dangling ornaments and parcels interfering with rear vision mirrors;

"Insist on coffee breaks every two hours at least; and walk around for a little while;

"Psychologists tell us that an angry person is accident prone. For safety's sake keep the conversation agreeable while en route.

"We fear accidents which all too frequently spoil a happy weekend but let us do some of these simple things which will help to remove some of the dangers of driving in heavy traffic."

League of Roses Annual Picnic

Annual picnic of the League of Roses (Lancs and Yorks) was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hughes, 3690 Braefoot Road. More than 70 members attended with their friends and each child received a present.

Games were played and prizes won by S. Mitchell and H. Horn, horseshoes; Mrs. H. Hardman and W. J. Evans, darts; Mrs. W. J. Evans, hidden treasure; Mr. and Mrs. J. Wrighton, needle and thread; Mrs. F. Arthur, Mrs. M. A. Dawson and Mrs. D. Horn, button-guessing. The mystery man was discovered by Mrs. S. McAllister.

In charge of refreshments was Mrs. K. Hughes and games were run by president H. Inman, assisted by W. Booth and Z. Worthington. Music was provided by accordionist F. Fairless. Mrs. A. Jones, assisted by Mrs. W. E. Dawson, was in charge of prizes and candy.

Canadian Foster Parents Needed

In its recent files at Unitarian Service committee headquarters at 78 Sparks Street in Ottawa is such convincing proof that many Canadians can ignore the distance which separates them from Korea and India, and love their little "foster-son" or "foster-daughter" just as much as if he lived right in their own home. These children are "adopted" under the USC Foster-Parent scheme for $60 per year; their case history and photograph tells their tragic background, but the letters they send to their Canadian sponsors demonstrate that much of their bleak pasts can be overcome by long-distance affection and generosity.

Coinciding with the launching of its new autumn campaign, the USC has extended sponsorship to three new institutions in Madras State, India, and to 40 war-mutilated boys and girls in the Handicapped Children's Home of Sanyouk in Seoul, Korea.

One hundred brand-new foster-parents are needed at once!

HEADS SCHOOL

Mrs. M. E. Godson, recently appointed headmistress of St. Margaret's School for Girls, to succeed Miss H. M. Pearce, has been associated with that school since 1939, for the past 10 years in the position of vice-principal. She was born in Victoria and after taking her B.A. degree at McGill University, made an early start on a teaching career in this city.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

What shall we do about our skin? It no doubt has been dried out by the hot rays of the summer sun and will gladly soak up a little extra lubrication. Try one of the fine oils or a hormone cream or oil and find time to let it soak in longer than usual each day. This will be a great help in bringing your epidermis back to normal.

The pores may have become enlarged a bit during the hot season. You might like to use one of the facial packs on the market, or you may want to make one yourself. If you wish to make a clay pack, which is said to refine the skin, mix equal parts of peroxide and witch hazel and add this to ¼ pound of Fuller's Earth. Add enough liquid to make the mixture smooth and easy to apply to the face. Let it dry on the face and remove later with water. Ice cubes wrapped in a soft cloth and then patted over the face is also a picker upper routine for the complexion.

Lots of bright sunlight may have been good for your soul and your health but it was probably hard on your skin. It is too bad we cannot shed our skin like a snake each year. In that way we could have our chic suntan in the summer and quickly return to the lighter coloring which goes best with winter clothing.

The dark brown skin which was so attractive with whites and pastels will not look so well against the darker shades of greens and reds or with black. Sun tan seems to belong with summer duds rather than with the elegance of winter wear.

There are bleaching creams on the market, but I do not think they speed the process of fading very much. It usually just takes time. However you might try one. You might also use diluted lemon juice which is a mild bleach. This is irritating, however, to sensitive skins and is somewhat drying too.

Perhaps as part of your reconditioning for fall clothes you would like to lose from five to 10 pounds quickly. If so, my 9-Day Reducing Diet gives you a loss of that sort in nine days time. If you would like to have that booklet sent 20 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

SCHOOLS

The new high school serving the Esquimalt View Royal, Colquitz area likely will be built in the northern section of Esquimalt and may mean the present Esquimalt high school will in time be relegated as a junior high.

The junior high school slated for Gordon Head will be similar in size and design to the Lansdowne and Colquitz junior highs. It will serve the Gordon Head, Mount Douglas, Mount Tolmie and Cadboro Bay areas.

The estimated total building cost of $3,000,000 was arrived at by a board official today with the understanding that because of the many phases of the program which are still indecisive, any estimate could be altered either up or down before the school building program No. 3 becomes a referendum.

The new building program, following on the heels of a $3,913,000 construction total authorized in 1947 and a $3,129,000 construction authorized in 1954, now almost completed, and will mean over $10,000,000 in new school costs to this area in post-war years.

Heaviest expenditure of the new program will be at the intermediate and secondary school level as the postwar baby boom advances through formal education. Board officials feel the swelled enrolments will next be felt at university level.

In the last seven years school enrolments have bounced from 9,000 to 17,000 and there is no letup in primary enrolments.

Alternative to the new program, according to senior municipal inspector John Gough, is shift classes at junior and senior high school levels.

Lansdowne and Oak Bay junior highs were reported last week to be filled to overflowing and late registrants were warned that regardless of the area in which they live, they would be required to attend classes at S. J. Willis and Central Junior High schools. Teaching is being carried out in the auditorium and cafeteria at Oak Bay High.

First hints that the new school building plans were almost complete came at an Oak Bay council meeting Tuesday night.

Council was asked to reserve for school purposes three large municipally owned lots adjoining Oak Bay High school. A privately owned parcel will also be negotiated for.

ENCLOSE CREEK
Costs involved were not revealed.

Council was also asked to investigate possibility of enclosing Bowker Creek where it runs through the sites of Oak Bay junior and senior high schools to ensure health of pupils and to provide a larger playing area.

Municipal engineer A. S. G. Musgrave estimated cost of the materials alone for such a culvert at nearly $40,000.

It was indicated council would oppose transference of all the land required to the school board and would also oppose any municipal sharing of costs involved in covering Bowker Creek. The engineer was authorized to meet with the school board to discuss both matters and report back to council.

CLAIMS SOCREDS SPENT $250,000

Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan claims Social Crediters spent $250,000 on campaigning during the Saskatchewan election last June.

"I don't know where the money came from," he said, "but it certainly did not come from the people of Saskatchewan."

"My guess is it came from those who thought they stood to gain if Social Credit was elected in our province."

to the people in lower rates and improved service.

"That is why you can still make nickel phone calls in Saskatchewan," he said.

He said if B.C. had charged the same timber royalty rates as Saskatchewan over the past four years, government revenues would have been doubled to $160,000,000.

Minerals would have provided $4,000,000 instead of $14,000,000.

"That is the difference between governments which work for the people and governments which have to pay off obligations," the CCF premier said.

He conceded that, in all probability, a large part of our economy will always be privately owned and operated, but believed there is an important place for co-operative and public ownership of monopolies.

Six Greater Victoria candidates made brief speeches.

Frank Snowsall, Saanich: "The chief weakness of British Columbia's Social Credit government is its fear of criticism. Mr. Bennett cries 'smear' whenever he is attacked."

Elvan Walters, Esquimalt: "When I am elected I intend to stay in my own riding and do a good job. I shall not go out electioneering in other provinces."

William Caird, Victoria: "Organized labor is a very important part of the Canadian scene. More than a million people are organized in trade unions in Canada."

Mrs. May Campbell, Victoria: "Women all over the world are becoming more politically conscious."

Nell Hindle, Victoria: "Through public ownership we can give you a higher standard of living."

Bert Thomas, Oak Bay: "The CCF believes in serving the people it represents."

BRITONS PUT COLOR ON ANY TV SCREEN

BIRMINGHAM, Eng. (UP)—British researchers were reported tonight to have developed a method of television broadcasting which produces an illusion of color on ordinary black and white screens.

The process is called "subjective color," and an experimental commercial will be broadcast to the public Saturday.

Asked to comment on the reports, Philip Dorte, Midlands controller of the Associated Television Co.—one of the commercial stations—said:

"We expect to make in the next few hours a statement which may be the most important ever made in television since it was first broadcast from Alexandra Palace in London on November 6, 1936."

MECHANICS

10 major dealers, in the city voted more than a week ago to take strike action in their dispute with employers.

The first deadline, set for Tuesday at 11 a.m. was postponed to today, then postponed again, to Thursday, when management came up with its new offer.

Management applied for government conciliation assistance when the union made no move to meet again with employer representatives.

RAISE OFFERED
Conciliation officer W. T. McLaughlin informed the union management was willing to increase its offer above terms of a conciliation report rejected last month by the union.

A union spokesman indicated the membership would likely reject the new offer.

Union requests include a journeyman mechanic rate of $2.10 an hour, 10-per-cent increase for other classifications, 40-hour, five-day week with 40-hour guarantee, nine statutory holidays, two weeks' holiday with pay after one year, full union shop and one-year contract.

Present rate for mechanics is $1.78%, there are no statutory holidays and the work week is 44 hours.

New company offer would give $2 an hour, "proportionate" increases for other classifications, existing maintenance of union membership, two-year agreement, 40-hour five-day week worked Monday-Saturday between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.

NOMINATIONS

a candidate in Vancouver Centre.

Twenty-five representatives of five political parties are contesting the six Greater Victoria seats.

Three were chosen by the CCF party, three by the Liberals and three by Labor-Progressive. Social Credit named two and the Conservatives one.

Remaining lady aspirant is Mrs. Margaret Murray, editor of the Alaska Highway News, who has chosen to run as an Independent in Peace River North.

Thomas J. Irwin, speaker of the legislature, received the Social Credit party's nod to run again in Delta, now a three-seat riding.

Nasser Keeps Door Open

CAIRO (UP)—The five-nation Suez committee discussed in secret today Egyptian president Gamal Abdel Nasser's counter-plans for an international advisory body linked with the United Nations to help run the Suez Canal.

Sources said Nasser rejected the Dulles plan for international control and then offered his counter-proposal in an effort to break the deadlock. They emphasized that neither the Menzies nor the Nasser proposals were final but were suggested in hopes of reaching a negotiated settlement.

But while this mild optimism was reported, Maj.-Gen. Russein visited the Canal zone and instructed his Liberation army commanders to be ready for attack at any time.

Egyptian government sources said if the two sides were able to reach agreement on a compromise formula a second meeting of the London conference nations would be most likely convened. They added that Egypt would go with Nasser himself attending.
